RALPH McGILL

Footprints of 50 Centuries

When the huge stone room, sand-covered and unknown to man for 50 centuries, hard by the vast pyramid tomb of the Pharaoh Cheops, recently was discovered and entered, workers could smell the mysterious perfume of cedar and incense left there by the priests who officiated there . . . and

In the sand, see their footprints waiting there through all the millenniums that have passed.
Egypt, experiencing a renaissance of spirit and government, has exported two of her most modern and best known products
—two archaeological wonders recently discovered reached back to the Pharaoh Cheops—and beyond. They are today in Atlanta, Kamal Mallakh and Dr.
Zakaria Ghoneim, and they bring with them some of the excitement and sense of history which their discoveries produced —the solar boat and the Third Dynasty burial tomb.

The ancient Egyptians firmly believed that continuance of life after death depended on continued preservation of the corpse —a belief made easier by the fact that in that dry climate bodies did last for a long time.
So, they cultivated the art of embalming and progressed beyond that to the elaborate rites and techniques of mummification.

They believed, too, that the after-life should be a replica of this—and so, with great ritual they provided food, jewels, robes, vessels, and the rich had elaborate solar boats.

Celestial Boat

Archaeologist Mallakh's find of Cheops' celestial boat revealed a six-deck vessel, about 55 yards long and some 9 yards deep.

He believes he will find a second one, since the belief was that the soul would ride one across the great air of the sky by day, and would need another one, dark and somber of sail, to sail the skies at night.

He believes, too, that when the boat is thoroughly examined this fall and winter, it will be found to contain writing on papyrus of that time as well as artifacts and vessels. Already they know of copper nails and ropes of linen.

The great tomb, the pyramid itself, was looted long ago of riches which stagger the imagination, knowing, as we do, that a poor, sickly king who died at 18, probably of tuberculosis, Tutankham-en, had wealth beyond description piled about his mummy.

Lord Byron, pondering on this looting, left in Don Juan his impression of this vast, looted tomb:

"Where are the hopes of man?
Old Egypt's king
Cheops erected the first pyramid
And largest, thinking it was just the thing.
To keep his memory whole and mummy hid.
But, somebody or other rummaging Burglariously broke his cof-fin's lid.
Let not a monument give you or me hopes.
Since not a pinch of dust remains of Cheops."

Pyramids

The Egyptian pyramids were built exclusively as tombs—as those in Mexico and other Central and South American countries were built as bases for temples or religious rites.

One stands before Cheops' in awe. It is not beautiful, yet the effect of it is almost overwhelming. I think this tribute of wonder, in a sense, is a feeling to a man himself that he was able to build this great thing.

When Napoleon first saw the pyramid he demanded to know the measurements. He pondered them, figured, and then informed his startled staff that there was enough material in the 2,500,000 stone blocks, each weighing about 2½ tons, to build a wall 10 feet high and a foot thick all the way around France. Five or six of the world's largest cathedrals, including St. Peter's, which will accommodate 100,000 persons, could be placed in the area it occupies. Cheops built all this for his tomb. And, as Byron says, no pinch of his dust remains.

It is exciting to have Kamal Mallakh and Dr. Zakaria Ghoneim in our country—representing the new Egypt—and revealing the ancient, thrilling past.

3 Indicted In Carroll Liquor Case

Conspiracy Charge
Names State Agent

A veteran state revenue agent and two Whitesburg men have been indicted by a federal grand jury in Atlanta in what the government charges is a six-year-old liquor conspiracy in Carroll County.

The jury returned a true bill against Roy B. Neill, revenue agent, Ralph B. Carnes and his brother, J. B. Carnes.

Twenty-two others are named as co-conspirators in the indictment.
The Carnes brothers have been free on bond since a U.S. commissioner's hearing in Newnan in September. Charges against Neill were dropped at the time for lack of sufficient evidence.
The U.S. district attorney's office said Thursday a warrant for his arrest was being prepared.

MANUFACTURE
The Carnes brothers are charged with manufacturing and distributing "quantities" of non-tax-paid whisky.

During 1951 and 1952, the indictment charges, Ralph Carnes paid Neill, the revenue agent, sums of money on "numerous occasions" for tip-offs on when law enforcement officers were about to investigate non-registered distilleries and other activities in the bootleg business.

Ralph Carnes, in addition, is charged with threatening to kill co-conspirators summoned to testify against him.

Carnes, according to the indictment, bought 84,995 pounds of sugar from a Tallapoosa grocery between Jan. 1, 1952, and Nov.
17, 1953, and 9,960 pounds from a LaGrange grocery between
Nov. 6, 1953, and Jan. 16, 1954.

SET AT 1948
The conspiracy, the government charges, began in January of 1948.

Charges against the men were brought last August following an undercover investigation by Thomas Pruett of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service.

Named as co-conspirators in the indictment are another brother, William Carnes, Olen Bryant,
Coleman Parker, Talmadge
Brown, Lindsey Brown, Reuben
Lee Kittle, Talmadge Gilley, Joe Mack Robinson, Emmett E. Fuller, Roosevelt Robinson, Tommie
W. Windom, Charles A. Crawford, R. E. Bragg, Ivan Bragg, Mrs. Eva Strickland, Wallace
Cochran, G. C. Morris, George
Turner, Curtis Brown, Edward Windom, Richard Lamar Carnes and R. E. Bragg.

32 Rescued As DC3 Falls Into Rio Bay

RIO DE JANEIRO, Oct. 21 (AP)—
A DC3 of the Cruzeiro do Sul
Airline crashlanded in Guanabara Bay just off the Santos Dumont airport tonight.

All 32 persons aboard were rescued during the 12 minutes it took the plane to sink.

The twin-engine transport was attempting to land in a light fog when it pancaked into the water about 30 yards from the Brazilian Naval Academy. Seven persons were killed in a similar crash in the bay Sept. 12.

The plane in the September crash sank before it could be reached by rescuers, but two small boats from the naval academy raced to the crash tonight.

Injured Driver Found In Debris After 2 Days

COCHRAN, Oct. 21 (AP)—A critically injured salesman Thursday was found pinned in the wreckage of his car, which careened off a high-landed in thick underbrush.

M. E. Ballard, 61-year-old hardware salesman of Monticello, lay trapped in the wreckage during two nights of near-freezing temperatures. Both his arms and a leg were broken.

Ballard, who reportedly suffers from heart trouble, was taken to Macon Hospital where a doctor said he was in "serious" condition and suffering from "considerable injuries."

The wrecked car was discovered by an unidentified Negro walking through the woods, Bleckley County Deputy Sheriff Cecil Horton said. Ballard was wedged in the front seat.

The wreck occurred on heavily-traveled U.S. Highway 23, four miles south of here.

TURKEY BRIDE—THOMASTON, Oct. 21—Dressed as a bride, this turkey hen owned by Buddy Jones of Molena, was the style show winner of the seventh annual Turkey Festival which attracted hundreds of spectators here today. Pretty girls, brass bands, colorful floats and droves of strutting turkeys featured the festival.

11 Suspensions Follow FHA Scandals Probe

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21 (AP)—The scandal-rocked Federal Housing Administration announced today it has suspended 11 employees for "improper activities."

Names of the employees and the nature of the charges against them were not disclosed. The Washington Evening Star said it was reported that most of the changes involved gambling.

Tax Ceiling Raise Loses In Decatur

Decatur voters Thursday night rejected almost 2 to 1 a proposed city charter amendment that would have raised the legal limit on taxes for general fund purposes.

The Decatur citizens voted 827 against, 466 for the amendment, which would have raised from 75 cents to $1.25 per $100 of assessed valuation the ceiling on the levying of ad valorem taxes to finance the city's general operations.

In calling for the referendum on the charter, the City Commission had said that the city's general government operations were underfinanced because the commission could levy no more than the 75 cents set as a ceiling in 1909.

Commissioners had indicated there would have been a raise in the tax rate had the amendment been approved, although they said the raise would not have gone to the top rate of $1.25.

There was no apparent organized opposition to the charter change and only slightly more than one-fifth of the city's more than 5,000 registered voters went to the polls.

Several groups, including the city government and Decatur teen-agers, who said a new recreation center for the city depended on the raise in taxes, campaigned actively for the charter amendment.

Sen. Smith in Moscow

MOSCOW, Oct. 21 (AP)—Sen.
Margaret Chase Smith (R-Me.) arrived by plane in Moscow tonight on her fact-finding tour of Europe.

The new FHA suspensions may have resulted from an administration memorandum on federal employee conduct which was distributed confidentially last spring.
Text of the memo was made public today.

Budget Director Rowland R.
Hughes and Chairman Philip Young of the Civil Service Commission said in a joint statement that "serious irregularities in the Federal Housing Administration pointed up the desirability of having federal officials review their standards of conduct."

The memo advised them to review personnel programs "to see that adequate standards of conduct have been established."

Pakistan Aid Boosted 5-Fold

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21 (AP)—The United States today pledged $105-000,000 in economic aid to Pakistan, a five-fold increase over last year, and promised to try to speed up "substantial" military aid for the southeast Asian nation.

The American pledge was announced in a joint U.S.-Pakistan communique at the close of talks here between top U.S. officials and Pakistani Prime Minister Mohammed Ali and members of his cabinet.

Jaycees Hit School Plan; Backers Pat

Talmadge, Griffin
Say, 'Only Means'

By M. L. ST. JOHN

Atlanta Jaycees Thursday came out against the "private school" amendment, while Gov. Talmadge said the proposal will enable the Legislature to provide an education for Georgia's children.

Judge William Ingram of Cartersville, long-time staunch supporter of the Talmadges, told the Atlanta Jaycees that Georgia cannot escape providing racially-integrated schools—even if it has to do so by setting up a third school system in addition to the present segregated system.
He said the amendment
"wouldn't work."

Durwood Pye, secretary of the Georgia Education Commission who debated Ingram, said the amendment will permit establishment of the "three-school" system if necessary, but that Geo-gia can have no schools without the amendment if the Supreme Court moves in.

GRIFFIN, TALMADGE

Gov.-Nominate Marvin Griffin and Gov. Talmadge stepped up their campaign with a joint statement issued here to answer objections raised by opponents of the plan. They appealed for passage of the amendment as the "only" means of giving the incoming administration the "tools to do the job of preserving segregation in schools."

The Gainesville Board of Education went on record against the amendment.

Gov.-Nominate Griffin carried his campaign to Albany Thursday night for a television appearance.

State School Supt. M. D. Collins and GEA leaders continued to assail the amendment as "destruction of the public school system" and "no protection of segregation" in a district meeting of teachers at Gainesville.

"ENABLING ACT"

Gov. Talmadge spoke Thursday night at Sparta. He said the court's decision will apply only to schools operated by the states or their political subdivisions. It will not apply to schools where

U.S. Seizes Puerto Rican Reds' Chief

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21 (AP)—The Justice Department tonight announced the arrest in Hidalgo, Tex., of Ramon Mirabal Carrion, 41, secretary general of the Communist Party of Puerto Rico.

The department said Carrion was head of the Communist Party in Puerto Rico and was arrested for conspiring to advocate violent overthrow of the United States government.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said Carrion disappeared from his San Juan, Puerto Rico, residence last June 27 and entered the Communist Party's underground network. Hoover said Carrion's arrest in Texas was linked to the arrest yesterday of 10 other leading members of the Puerto Rican Communist Party in New York City and Puerto Rico.

Carrion's arrest brings to a total of 12 the number of Communist Party officials and func-tionaries arrested since 1948 on charges of conspiring to teach or advocate violent overthrow of the U.S. government.

Dixon Arkansas Unit Corrupt, Banker Says

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21 (AP)—Arkansas banker Arthur
E. McLean today termed the Arkansas Power & Light Co.
a "most corrupt and ruthless" arm of the controversial Dixon-Yates Public Utility group.

McLean, long-time critic of Arkansas Power, was testifying under oath before the Senate Antimonopoly subcommittee which is exploring in public hearings the hotly disputed private power contract President Eisenhower has ordered negotiated with the Dixon-Yates companies.

One of these is Middle South
Utilities, Inc., headed by Edgar H.
Dixon, and the parent company of Arkansas Power. The other group is the Southern Co., headed by E. A. Yates.

Under the proposed contract the Dixon-Yates group would build a generating plant at West Memphis, Ark., to feed private power into the public power lines of the Tennessee Valley Authority. The plan is a major issue in some areas in the current congressional election campaign.

McLean, 62, president of the Commercial National Bank of Little Rock, Ark., told the subcommittee he knew nothing about the Dixon-Yates contract but that the government would be wise to use extreme caution in entering into any contract with a parent of Arkansas Power.

He said "a national scandal" could be the price of carelessness.
McLean charged that Arkansas Power has practiced "bribery" and played politics "as a general routine for years and years."

He said the government should get "the best brains possible and see that the brains are honest" to examine the proposed contract.
The contract already has been

2 Suspects Run Down After Theft

A pistol taken from two robbery suspects run down by riot-gun-armed police squads Thursday night was identified as the weapon used in the slaying of Eugene Davis Norton Tuesday night in Springvale Park, police said.

The gun was taken from the suspects following a $190 holdup at a Confederate avenue, SE, laundry in which the gunman attempted to kidnap an attractive young woman employee, police reported.
Both men were listed as ex-convicts.

The comparison with test bullets fired from the pistol and death slugs taken from Norton's body was made by Dr. Herman Jones, of the State Crime Laboratory.

SEARCHING FOR THEM

Det. Lt. L. T. Bullard said investigators had been searching for the men, identified as Ernest Eugene Bishop, 24, of 45 Krog
St., NE, and Roy Lee Carroll, 28, of 1771 Wade Ave., NE, in connection with the Norton slay-ing even before the laundry holdup.

"A lot of work remains to be done," Bullard declared. "But we believe we've got the answer."

He indicated investigators believe Norton may have been gunned down by hired killers.

Meantime, Sgt. G. H. Christian and N. W. Flanagan, of the robbery squad, said Bishop and Carroll were identified in a police lineup in the Thursday night robbery of the Confederate Avenue
Cleaners at 764 Confederate Ave., SE, and a Wednesday night robbery of a Georgia Mills-Producers Confederation store at 583 Boulevard, SE.

REFERRED TO BEATING

During the Thursday night robbery, detectives said, a gunman told Mrs. Judy Norvell and Mrs.
Mary Cook, plant employees: "I had to beat one man's brains out and I don't want to hurt you."

They said the bandit was believed to be referring to a robbery Monday night at the Viaduct Package Store at 647 Edgewood Ave. They said the same man returned Tuesday night, robbed the store again and told the owner, Bernard P. Abrams,

A Bit Warmer, Forecaster Says

Warmer weather is predicted for Atlanta and north Georgia Friday and Saturday.

The Atlanta Weather Bureau's forecast calls for "fair and slightly warmer" Friday and "partly cloudy and mild" Saturday. The forecaster still sees no chance of rain.

Temperatures in the Atlanta area Friday are expected to range from a low of 36 to 42 degrees to a high of 74. Saturday's predicted extremes are 45 and 76.
Thursday's extremes were 42 and 69.

New Auto Designs, More Power Spell Tough Sales Rivalry in 1955

Are automobile company executives underestimating the size of the 1955 market?

And if so, are they doing it deliberately in order not only to avoid disappointment, but also to set up a psychological lift if next year's volume shows an "unexpected" gain over 1954?

Now that the 1955 model year is about to begin, these questions are getting more attention from the multitude of independent authorities who inhabit the nation's motor capital.

A significant number of automobile experts and analysts there think the industry's estimates are too conservative. They believe next year's sales—stimulated by

By JIM MONTGOMERY

Constitution Business Editor
Editor's Note: Jim Montgomery returned Thursday from a 10-day study of the automobile industry in Detroit. His observations here are based on dozens of interviews with auto executives.

11 brand new models—may wind up third best in history, with only 1950 and 1953 in front.

But the average estimate of all the auto executives who have offered predictions on industry production for the next year is 5,300,000, or about the same as it probably will be this year.

As one sales manager pointed out, "someone's going to be disappointed" if this is the case, because sales predictions made so far add up to 110 per cent of a 5,300,000-car market.

According to one survey, however, there's room for every car to gain in sales.

The 18th annual Crowell-Collier Publishing Co. automobile survey reports that auto makers can expect 5,593,000 live prospects for new cars in 1955.

If there is any doubt about the validity of this finding, it might be noted that this survey is regarded as one of the most authoritative in the industry.

West Completes Bonn Pact But Saar Remains in Way

France, Germany Must Settle Issue
Before Signing of Papers Saturday

By HAROLD CALLENDER

PARIS, Oct. 21—Agreements were completed today for the rearmament of West Germany within the Atlantic alliance and a Western European union, but this whole program seemed threatened tonight by a tight deadlock between the French and Germans over the Saar.

Plans had been made for West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer to sit in a meeting with the 14 North Atlantic treaty powers tomorrow as a sign of the Bonn republic's approaching sovereignty, equality and right to rearm, which were to be accorded in treaty protocols to be signed Saturday.

But the signature of these documents giving West Germany a new status appeared doubtful so long as there was uncertainty of an accord between Adenauer and French Premier Mendes-France on the Saar. Mendes-France had said he would sign the protocols only if and when such an accord had been obtained.

The Germans appeared to doubt that Mendes-France had really meant what he had said. The French said there had been no progress whatever on the Saar in spite of long talks, and that a showdown must come before Saturday.

The French were angry that Adenauer had summoned to Paris German socialist leaders, whose proposals for the Saar the French refused to consider. The French suggested that the Germans were playing for time and were ready to accuse the French of delaying the Western defense program if Mendes-France stuck to his refusal to sign the new agreements without a Saar accord.

Something of the nationalistic passions that usually arise over the Saar was revived in Paris to check the enthusiasm of those who had long been working to bring France and West Germany into the Western defense system, if not into a wider union.

The basic issue was not new but as old as the special status of the Saar, a German coal and steel region economically annexed by France since 1947 but given political autonomy. The French now want to maintain the Saar's present status but put it under the guardianship of the new Western European union or Brussels treaty.

Sheppard Jury Adds 3 Women

10 Picked; Panel
Due by Tonight

CLEVELAND, Oct. 21 (AP)—Ten jurors were tentatively seated today in the first degree murder trial of Dr. Samuel Sheppard. A full and final panel was conceivable by tonight Friday.

Three more housewives were added—including a woman who finds it hard to change her mind. There now are six women and four men, with two vacancies to fill. Then a weeding out process occurs and a final panel is sworn in.

The last woman seated was Mrs. Grace L. Prinz, mother of four and wife of a meat packing foreman. She declared during questioning that once her mind is made up it isn't easily changed.

She finally conceded she could discuss the case with her fellow jurors and conceivably change her mind to agree with them. Then she added firmly:

"But there would have to be an awful lot of discussion about it." The defense in its fourth day of examining prospective jurors began picking away at bulwarks in the state's case—the demand for the death penalty and the circumstantial evidence against the 30-year-old osteopath.

Sheppard is accused of beating his pregnant wife, Marilyn, 31, to death July 4 in the bedroom of their lakefront home. In pleading

Navy Voids Clearance of Atom Expert

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21 (AP)—The Navy today suspended the limited security clearance it gave last July to Dr. Edward U. Condon, physicist and former head of the government's Bureau of Standards.

Secretary of the Navy Thomas ordered a further review of the whole case. He said that after a personal study he had decided that "there is sufficient evidence to warrant my requesting a complete reconsideration of this action."

No hint of the nature of the evidence was given. The 52-year-old atomic expert, who is now research director for the Corning Glass Works, commented at Corning, N. Y.:

"I have been fully cleared four times by four different boards, the last of which was on July 12, 1954. I shall be pleased to be cleared a fifth time, and I know that a review of my record will end in such clearance."

The glass company, which does work for the Navy, said it would await further information from Secretary Thomas but said in a statement:

"Dr. Condon will continue to be employed in nonclassified work until such time as a more complete ruling and determination of this can be made."

Thomas said the review will be carried out by a three-man panel to be appointed by the Eastern Regional Industrial Security Board, which granted Dr. Condon limited access to government secrets in July.

Pasteurized, Homogenized, Magnetized!

CHICAGO, Oct. 21 (AP)—Magnets are being installed in cows as a possible answer to one of the banes of the livestock industry—hardware disease.

It seems that cows cheerfully swallow bits of rusty wire, nails and other scrap metal while grazing. This bit of animal discrimination costs the industry from one to two billion dollars annually in animal losses and condemnation of mutilated carcasses at packing houses.

Dr. Harold K. Cooper of Roanoke, Va., said a two-inch magnet inserted in a cow's rumen—first stomach—will remain there indefinitely without discomfort and will attract most of the scrap metal swallowed.

The magnet—two inches long—is fed to the cow like a large pill. It lies on the floor of the stomach. Experiments with several animals have shown that the magnet prevents the metal from moving on through the stomach wall and injuring vital organs.

Currently surgery is the most common method for correcting the condition, Dr. Cooper wrote in the Journal of the American Veterinary Medical Assn.

innocent, he claimed a bushy-haired man invaded the house, killed his wife and knocked him unconscious.

The state has no known witnesses to the slaying. But it has built up a circumstantial case. Assistant prosecutor John J. Mahon bore down at one point during the day to stress that Ohio law allows a conviction and a death sentence "on circumstantial evidence alone."

U.S. Anti-Polio Trio Win Nobel Prize

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Oct. 21 (AP)—A team of three American doctors, headed by Dr. John F. Enders of Harvard University, won the 1954 Nobel Prize for physiology and medicine tonight for their achievement in the fight against polio.

The other two in the all-American finish were Dr. Thomas H. Weller, 39, also of Harvard, and Dr. Frederick C. Robbins, 39, of the Western Reserve Medical School, Cleveland, Ohio.

The award was "for their discovery that poliomyelitis virus is capable of growing in cultures of different tissues." It means they have provided scientists with the tools that will eventually conquer polio.

They barely nosed out Dr. Vincent du Vigneaud, 54, of Cornell University who had done valuable work in hormone research. The Caroline Medical Surgical Institute (Swedish medical academy) gave the award to the Enders group after nine months of deliberations.

The Enders team discovered how to grow the virus of polio in tissue cultures, a discovery that opens the way for production of polio vaccine and could lead to wholesale suppression of the dread, crippling disease.

The discovery meant that research on polio could be speeded since in the past studies of destructive work of polio virus was only possible in living guinea pigs.

An immediate result was that doctors could establish positively, quickly and easily whether a person had become immune to polio by having contracted the disease in a mild form.

Mitchell Sees Win For Democrats--If

There is a very real possibility of a Democratic sweep in the November elections "if the party members will get out and vote."

That opinion was expressed by Stephen A. Mitchell, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, in a stopover at the Atlanta Airport Thursday afternoon.

"There is no doubt that it is the Democrats who are showing the most interest in the race," the optimistic Mr. Mitchell declared. There is some apathy here and there among the Democrats, but there is almost no enthusiasm on the part of Republican voters, who seem to be disillusioned with the men whom like likes.

If those persons get out and vote who believe that the Democrats are better able to govern this country—on a basis of what the Republicans have failed to do—Mr. Mitchell is sure that a great sweep is in the making.

The national chairman is running a scared race. But he didn't seem scared. He thinks the people will vote.

He had a little bit to say about the South. In his speech at Birmingham, he intends to ask the Democrats to recall those Southern governors who had led, or sought to lead, the people of their states into the Republican Party. He wants them to ask themselves what they now think of their judgment.

After all the promises made by the Republicans, he wants to ask Southerners if they were not better off fighting their battles within the Democratic Party despite some disappointments.

Mr. Mitchell reminds us that the GOP has given us Vice President Nixon whom he characterizes as one of the most irresponsible men to come along in American politics. He points out that Mr. Nixon has introduced more ruthless, unethical campaign practices than any other before him.

Chairman Mitchell has done a good job for the Democratic Party.

He has earned the respect of all its state leaders, including those of the South who have not always agreed with him. But all trust him and believe in his integrity and loyalty to the general welfare of the party.

If the Democrats do indeed win in November, it will be because of Steve Mitchell and Adlai Stevenson's leadership and inspiration. As the Republicans have faltered and failed, the Democratic leadership has looked better and better.

Light Up the Park in The Dark of the Moon

This week marks the 75th anniversary of Thomas A. Edison's invention of the first practical incandescent lamp. In Atlanta it is being celebrated by Alderman Wayne Blanchard's suggestion that more light be shed on the dark ways of Piedmont Park.

Fairly recently the city set the park aside as a reservation for courting couples with no other place to go. This recognition of the facts of life came about after a series of robberies and brutal murders. Couples who parked on lonely roads risked their lives at the hands of criminals who found them easy marks.

Since Atlanta gave its blessings to courtship in the park there has been a noticeable absence of lovers' lane murders. Nevertheless the city's indulgent attitude has been condemned by a church group which claims the park is the scene of "youthful drinking and sex indulgence."

Youth will be served. And it seems obvious that bumper-to-bumper courting infinitely is preferable to the hazards of the lonely road, particularly if a few of Mr. Edison's incandescent lamps are installed to provide a romantic glow for moonless nights.

Basic U.S. Objectives Now Showing Results

President Eisenhower's reaffirmation of basic American foreign policy in his New York speech Wednesday night will be favorably received. The President restated these three basic objectives as follows:

1. Tirelessly seeking through the United Nations and all other means to establish conditions for honorable peace.
2. Promoting unity and strength through nations and all other means to establish conditions for honorable peace.
3. Maintaining "enough military strength to deter aggression and promise peace."

There are no arguments except within the isolationist wing of the President's own party about these policies. There are arguments about how they will be implemented. These elements would destroy the United Nations, lay down rigid rules for our allies to follow and whittle down our military strength to the point of great danger in order to cut appropriations.

Surprisingly, in spite of the sound and fury, these principles of American policy that have been developed and followed by leaders of both parties remain consistent. Because of this consistency, the differences that have threatened to split the free world and leave it helpless against the tightly knit coalition of Communist countries are gradually being ironed out.

More significant than the President's speech perhaps is the good news from Paris, where the United States, Britain, France and West Germany announce that full agreement has been reached on all terms for restoring German sovereignty and ending the Allied occupation. Even the troublesome issue of the Saar has reportedly been settled in a fine example of compromise.

It has taken a long time, much money and great patience to reach this point. But gradually a strong Western community is being forged—a community that should be able to bring enough force to bear to bring peace in our time if all problems are met in the same spirit of patience and cooperation.

All Georgia Is Proud Of State Fair Winners

Down at Macon the Georgia State Fair is reported to be the usual success. No small part of this is due to the county exhibits that display the state's progress in agriculture, industry, education and other fronts.

The winners of the displays this year were selected from 17 splendid entries. First prize went to Sumter County, which was awarded $350. Second went to Jones County with $300 and third award went to Bleckley with $250.

The State Fair is to be congratulated for encouraging Georgia counties to promote themselves and to show the rest of the state the result of their efforts. The winning counties have a right to be proud and the rest of the state shares it with them. In the final analysis, Georgia's progress depends upon the progress of its local communities.

C.I.A. Report Dispel's McCarthy-Bred Distrust

The first of two independent study groups commissioned to study the Central Intelligence Agency has made its report. Headed by Gen. Jimmy Doolittle, the study group finds that the agency has done a "credible job."

The report says that improvements can be made and that they are being made. Further studies of the agency are being made by a task force headed by Gen. Mark W. Clark. It will deal specifically with ways of improving the C. I. A.'s effectiveness in over-all problems of U.S. intelligence services.

The two reports, headed by reliable and trusted Americans, should not only dispel the clouds of suspicion that Senator McCarthy cast over the agency but should contribute to its improvement.

After all, the United States is a comparative newcomer in the field of international intelligence. We had a great deal to learn.

The Central Intelligence Agency was set up to coordinate and evaluate the vast stores of information constantly being collected by military and civil authorities abroad. It was the first national effort to set up a reliable intelligence program in a world in which we can no longer evade our responsibilities.

Mayor Might Inspect Austria's Silent City

While Mayor Hartsfield is journeying in Germany, he might find it profitable to drop over to a little health resort in Austria named Bad Gleichenberg. This European spa claims to have the answer for those who seek a little relief for their tortured eardrums.

The Austrian city's doctors claim that silence is half the cure for most diseases and so the authorities have banned all noise. Motorcycles, auto horns and even the crowing of roosters are taboo.

Perhaps His Honor can bring back some suggestions to Police Chief Herbert Jenkins, who has just tackled the monumental task of cutting down Atlanta's noise.

Silence will be profitable in Atlanta now that the police are enforcing the "quiet-down" to eliminate unnecessary noise. Horn-blowers, brake-squealers and radio-blasters can still practice their art, but they had better have a good story for the judge. Police are giving out tickets for making too much noise.

However, there's one noise that the police and all Atlantans will be glad to hear. That is the loud splash of a skin-soaking, earth-soaking rain.

If State Gave Major Part of School Funds Then Griffin Has Very Little To Boast About

Atlanta—There has been much publicity given to the fact that Griffin will have no ad valorem taxes for 1954. In all the statements made about Griffin's expenditures I have seen no reference to the public school costs in Griffin.

In most of our progressive states, the state provides an equalizing fund so the poor communities do have a decent education for the children in that community. This leads to the state giving from 15 to 30 per cent to the public schools in the state.

Here in Georgia over 70 per cent is coming from the state. This indicates local communities that should carry the high proportion of their own school system costs are not doing so.

If Griffin is able to say that they are supporting their own local education to the extent of approximately 80 per cent or better and can still get along without an ad valorem tax they certainly are to be complimented but if the state is carrying their educational load they have nothing to be proud of.

Dog Lover Analyzes Mr. Wilson's Remark

Atlanta—Now that some of the hue and cry has, for the moment, died down regarding the remarks of the Secretary of Defense about hungry people and hungry dogs, some quantitative analysis of the impact of these mouthings may be attempted.

As a dog lover, I suggest the dogs may have some good grounds for complaint, particularly if they are Republican dogs and do not fancy being classed with unemployed humanity.

I do know that "man's best friend" has one legitimate yelp. Some of my friends have renamed their dogs "Mr. Wilson." If the dogs object to this stigma, I don't blame them. How would you like to go to eternity being called "Mr. Wilson?"

He Suspects Ike Has A Dictatorship Plan

Albany—President Eisenhower's bid for absolute dictatorship will either advance a step or slow down temporarily with the coming "decision" by the Supreme Court on the question of state's rights to decide on subversive organizations and, or, individuals.

If this decision is in negative for the states, there will be no question about his plans. He will be all out for complete domination and regimentation of the American people's lives.

The third step could well be that he will order the Supreme Court to overrule any election whose outcome he does not consider favorable to his program.

Now Wilson Knows Who His Friends Are

Georgia Can Reap Benefit Of U.S. Slum Clearance Aid

While most of the public's interest is centered on the so-called "private school amendment," there is another amendment, Amendment No. 6, which should be of vital interest to the cities and towns of Georgia.

This amendment, if passed by the people, will enable Georgia communities to participate in the Slum Clearance and Urban Redevelopment Program now in effect through the Housing Act of 1944.

Thirty-one states, including our neighbors Alabama and Tennessee, are eligible to participate in the slum clearance program. Georgia at present is not.

At its latest session the Georgia Legislature passed an enabling act permitting Georgians to vote on an amendment to the Constitution so that municipalities could take advantage of federal funds for slum clearance.

The Republican-controlled Congress, in passing the Housing Act of 1944, tied in public housing with the slum clearance program. Under the act no public housing can be erected in Georgia unless and until Amendment No. 6 is passed by the electorate on Nov. 2.

The passage of the amendment will in no way obligate any community to have such a program. The whole idea is to permit each city to exercise its own good judgment as to whether or not it wishes to have a local slum clearance and redevelopment program.

At the present time, redevelopment assistance available from federal sources provides two-thirds of the cost of redevelopment, while the local community pays one-third. The latter can be provided in services such as grading, building streets and sidewalks, installing gas, water, electricity and sewerage systems.

In the smaller cities in states where slum clearance can be condemned, cleared and resold to private agencies, the local housing authority handles the transaction.

lowing your thoughts it would really be bad.

I don't see how you could say such harsh things about Mr. Wilson. If Mr. Eisenhower were to slip and you think most of the people want to blast and try to ruin him, suppose you would be right there to write another article so Moscow can quote you.

Redfern Refused To Bend Under

Who was Dan Redfern? No, not Paul. We pretty well know about him. Paul Redfern was the South Carolina flier who disappeared somewhere in South America. Dan Redfern did something different. He was a University of Georgia man, noted not for where he went, but for where he didn't go. As a member of Gridiron at Georgia, I feel obligated further to publicize this alumnus from the school of my adoption. I say "further" because a neighbor, Joann Burns, recently set forth the Redfern story in The Red and Black, the campus newspaper of which she is the feature editor.

Dan Redfern is the fellow who set the precedent when it comes to freshmen not walking under the arch at Athens.

Here's how, as told by Burns: "In 1905 Dan Redfern arrived at the university. Viewing the arch and its replica of the state seal, he felt that the school had great things for him and vowed never to use the arch until he could walk under with his diploma.

"He kept his promise even when a line of cadets in which he was marching went through the arch. He broke ranks at the risk of severe punishment. Again he kept the vow when his sweetheart begged him to walk under it with her.

"Since that time, students have followed the custom, not knowing why. But since 1909 there have been 94 students who know very well why the tradition was established. They are the boys and girls over Georgia and Florida who have been sent to school by this same Dan Redfern who was proud of the university and declared that before he died he would make at least 100 other students proud, too.

Every campus has its traditions and customs. My alma mater had no arch, but it had an owl, a big-eyed, wise bird cut in stone and perched on a pedestal near East College. The campus owl was said to hoot every time an unskilled coed passed by.

Fear of Hypocrisy Is a False Terror

The reason some people do not go to church is because of their fear of hypocrisy. Perhaps they know some church member who is living an unworthy life. "When I go to church I see a certain man taking an immoral part who stole some money, or who gambles, or who is immoral." We feel a deep resentment against that person, and we at the same time recognize our own imperfections. Maybe we admit we are no better than he is, but at least we will not add to our sins the sin of pretending to be something we are not.

Some people admit to themselves they are not living a very good life, but instead of trying to do better, they pull down their ideals. Some people do not live up to their religious professions. But others do not profess even up to their living. Some say, "I will not profess to be good, then no one can condemn me for being bad."

But the sincere church member says, "I do not claim to be perfect, but I do claim to have a perfect Christ and as I keep Him before me I will become more like Him." Better to try and fail than to be afraid to even try.

The main reason people do not go to church is because they feel no need of the forgiveness of God. If my tooth hurts, I will hurry to the dentist. If my car breaks down, I will call a mechanic. If I feel pain in my body, I will go to the physician. Likewise, one may say, "If my conscience hurts, I will go to church and seek God."

But you can have decaying teeth without feeling pain. Your car can be ruined for lack of attention before the trouble shows up. You can have a cancer and yet feel no pain until it is too late. And sin can blight your life but you can refuse to face up to it or let it bother you until your soul is dead. Because many people feel no sense of sin, they feel no need of God.

One day Isaiah, a government official, went to church. A deep sorrow brought him there. It was "In the year that King Uzziah died." In the loss of his closest friend he turned toward the church. There he had a vision of God and, seeing the beauty, holiness and power of God, he became conscious of the wrongs of his own life.

He fell on his knees, confessed his sin and pleaded for the cleansing mercy of God. His life was cleansed, the burden of his soul was lifted, he became a new man. Then he realized the need of the world, the opportunities of making his life count in a worthwhile way. He felt the call of God and in consecration he said, "Here am I; send me." (Isaiah 6:1-8)

Ask Isaiah if it was good for him to go to church. Ask thousands and thousands of others who have had a similar experience in the church. The testimony they will give you will send you to the nearest church to become a regular member.

Adlai and Ike Lock Horns in New York

WASHINGTON—We in the East are inclined to be provincial, much as we pretend otherwise. For example, we look to New York for guidance in literature, art, theater, music, and fashions. We also watch its politics closely.

For the last there is a valid reason. Although pressed now by California, New York still leads the states in votes in the national conventions of both major parties for nominating candidates for President and vice president and has the most electoral votes in the actual election of those two officers.

Just now New York is of perhaps more commanding interest because of the stake there in the Nov. 2 election, not only for the two parties but also for three personalities. Namely, President Eisenhower, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and Adlai Stevenson.

The big stake is governor of New York and the state administration. A New York governor is always a formidable factor in national politics because of his control of his state's delegation to national conventions. A state administration is powerful in swinging New York's 45 electoral votes in national elections and thus affecting the outcome. In this century only two Presidents have been elected without New York's electoral vote—Woodrow Wilson to his second term in 1916 and Harry S. Truman in 1948, both "squeak-through" victories.

Naturally President Eisenhower, as President, leader of his party, and possible candidate for renomination and re-election, is anxious that the Republican Party continue in power in New York by electing its candidate for governor, Sen. Irving M. Ives, on Nov. 2. So is Governor Dewey.

In deciding to retire after 12 years, Governor Dewey has picked Senator Ives as candidate to succeed him. He has, therefore, a personal interest of his own in the contest. The election is a referendum of sorts on Governor Dewey. Beyond that, if President Eisenhower should decline to run in 1956 and make it stick, maybe Tom Dewey would want to try once again for the prize he twice missed. For that it would help to have in the governor's chair a man he helped to put there.

As for Adlai Stevenson, he has the formal interest that a titular leader of the Democratic Party would have in seeing New York back in the Democratic column as an auspicious preliminary to the 1956 election. As a candidate for renomination, which he plainly is, he would like to have New York's delegation at the 1956 convention. It is understood that Averell Harriman, the Democratic candidate for governor, would see to it that if he becomes governor.

This welter of party and personal political ambitions explains what is now happening in New York as this year's campaign nears a climax. It explains why President Eisenhower set aside two days this week for New York. It explains why Adlai Stevenson is moving into New York to campaign after a grueling schedule in the West.

GOP Faces Battle To Grab Kentucky

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—The odds that former Vice President Alben W. Barkley will take a crucial Senate seat away from the Republicans are the same as those that Cleveland would beat the Giants in the World Series.

And here in Kentucky they said that the odds aren't going to be wrong twice.

The durable Mr. Barkley, who was denied consideration at the 1952 Democratic national convention because of his age and who has come back to fight again, is not running so much against the Republican Sen. John Sherman Cooper as against his own birthday.

"All they can find against me is my birthday," the venerable "Veep" remarks to every audience he addresses, and he is now heading toward a crescendo campaign schedule of 10 to 20 political rallies in a single day to prove he is hale and hardy.

There are numerous personal and political advantages which work for Mr. Barkley's election. He has the affectionate regard of many Kentuckians and the prestige of former high office.

Kentucky is full of Democrats and it takes special circumstances, like a particularly weak Democratic candidate, to enable a Republican, however good, to win.

With nearly every state office in Democratic hands, the Democratic organization is far stronger than the Republican organization.

Farm prices are down over peak years and there is serious unemployment in the Kentucky coal fields. Sen. Cooper didn't invent gas and electricity and didn't cause the drought which has added to farmer discontent, but his candidacy is adversely affected even with the Eisenhower administration buying 2,000,000 tons of Kentucky coal to be used abroad in the foreign aid program.

There is also some disaffection

Griffin To Keep Forestry Board

By M. L. ST. JOHN

Members of the Georgia Forestry Commission walked into the private office of Gov. Tamm to nominate Marvin Griffin the other day and offered him their resignations. They did not have to do so. The members were appointed for staggered terms so all terms would not expire during the tenure of a single governor. However, the commission is not protected in the constitution. It could be reorganized through an act of the legislature with a simple majority.

Gov. Nominate Griffin did not pick up the resignation of these men.

"I told them they had done a good job," Griffin reported. "I told them just to sit steady in the boat, and keep on doing a good job."

Thus, Griffin apparently intends to continue the same Talmadge - appointed team that turned in one of the finest performances of the Talmadge administration—the Forestry Commission. Few, if any of the accomplishments of the Talmadge administration, were more impressive than the improvements in Georgia's forests.

TALMADGE PLEASED

Talmadge is very proud of the work of the commission. He devotes a chapter to it in his book of administration accomplishments sent to the Legislature recently.

"Georgia's forestry program ranked 46th in the nation in the amount of forest acreage under organized protection in November 1948," the governor wrote. "Today it stands first."

Talmadge reported that the Legislature created a five-member State Forestry Commission to operate the program. The results have exceeded the hopes of even the most optimistic. Talmadge declared. He quoted federal foresters as saying that no state ever has made such progress in so short a time.

In 1946 only 37 of the 159 counties had fire protection programs. Today, 132 counties are protected, and the program is offered to the remaining 27. The state appropriation has increased from $775,000 to $1,786,000. The cost to the counties was cut from 60 to 33 per cent. Employees were increased from 148 to 602. The average fire was cut from 38 acres in 1946 to 15.41 acres in 1952, the latest statistics available.

FIRES CONTROLLED

Guyton DeLoach, the director who has spearheaded this improvement program, said that fires now are under control, and the new program is one of sound timber management and fire prevention education. To accomplish these aims, DeLoach and the Commission have placed management foresters in each of the state's 10 forestry districts to assist landowners, and have quadrupled the forest education program.

Members of the Forestry Commission are: Henry O. Cummings, of Donaldsonville, whose term expires Feb. 28, 1955; K. S. Varn, of Waycross, 1956; C. M. Jordan Jr. of Alamo, 1959; John McElrath of Macon, 1960, and Sam H. Morgan of Savannah, 1961, who succeeded the late Philip Morgan.

As Talmadge and Griffin say, they have done a good job. It is well they apparently will be permitted to continue to make progress for the state, uninterrupted through the change of administrations.

'Meanest Man' Gyps Sightless Vendor

Constitution State News Service
BLAKELY, Oct. 21—Frank Hayes says he has met the "meanest man in Early County" but doesn't know who the man is.

Hayes, who is sightless and is sponsored by the Lions Club in Blakely, runs a concession stand in the Early County courthouse. Recently someone handed him a bill stating it was a five, when they bought cigarettes. Hayes gave the man change for a five-dollar bill.

As soon as a member of his family came in, Hayes showed the bill and was told that it was a one-dollar bill.

Child Patient Play Building Is Projected

A $500,000 recreation-activities building is to be constructed at Gracewood School for Mentally Retarded Children at Augusta soon, State Welfare Director Alan Kemper announced Thursday.

Bids will be asked for construction of the building to house a gymnasium, swimming pool, auditorium and classrooms, he said. The building will be financed from regular welfare funds.

A contract recently was let for a recreation-activities building at the Georgia State Training School for Girls at Adamsville.

17 Injured as Mother in Pickup Tries To Put Tardy Child on Bus

EDGEFIELD, S.C., Oct. 21 (AP)—A mother's frantic effort to stop a school bus on which she wanted to place her tardy child resulted in a collision between her pickup truck and the bus near here today. Seventeen persons were injured, three critically.

Tonight, attendants at University Hospital, Augusta, said they had treated five of the injured, two of whom were released. Twelve others were at Nicholson's Clinic at Edgefield. Ten were bed patients.

Injured critically were Mrs. Alice White, 38, driver of the pickup truck; her daughter, 13-year Serica White, and James Turnage, 7. All suffered fractured skulls.

The crash occurred, Sheriff C. R. Jackson said, when the truck driven by Mrs. White ran abruptly into the path of the bus as she attempted to halt the bus.

Billy Johnson, 17, student driver of the bus, said he made a desperate attempt to stop, but his heavily loaded bus crashed into the light pickup and then careened over a 30-foot embankment.

The pickup was demolished. The bus was a mass of wreckage in the rock-filled bed of Gundy Creek. It lay on its top.

The injured had to be removed from the emergency door at the rear of the bus. The front entrance was crushed.

Besides the three listed in critical condition, the injured are:

Laundry Holdup Pistol Linked to Park Slaying

of 509 Boulevard, NE: "You remember too—much."

With that, detective said, the bandit began to beat and kick Abrams. Abrams was admitted to Crawford W. Long Hospital as result of the beating. His condition is listed as "fair."

ON WAY TO AREA

Detectives armed with riot guns were en route to guard several business establishments in the section near the laundry when the holdup call came in Thursday night. Dets. G. E. Harriman, L. N. Jones and G. D. Shorall spotted the two men in a car at Memorial drive and Hill streets. They forced the car to the curb at Bell and Decatur streets, SE, and seized the two men.

A gunman entered the laundry at 6:15 p.m. and as Mrs. Norvell walked up to wait on him, shoved a gun into her face.

"This is a holdup," he was quoted as saying. "Give me everything in the register, I'm in a hurry."

He turned to Mrs. Cook, who was sitting in a chair, and said: "Don't look at me like that, four-eyes. I had to beat one man's brains out and I don't want to hurt you."

ASKED FOR CHANGE

The bandit at first said he didn't want the change and then changed his mind and asked for the half-dollars, detectives said. They said he instructed both women to lie on the floor. Then he turned to Mrs. Norvell and said: "Baby you come go with me."

Mrs. Norvell protested that she wanted to get her coat, searching for a chance to escape. She said the gunman cursed her and told her to hurry. As they reached the door, he turned for a final look at Mrs. Cook and Mrs. Norvell dashed next door to a drug store to call police. The bandit fled.

Within a matter of minutes, Lt. R. F. Jordan, Dets. B. G. Holland and Y. H. Allen were on the trail.

Since being released from prison in June, police said, Carroll has been bound over to the Fulton County grand jury on two charges of auto larceny. They said he was sentenced Nov. 11, 1952, to three to five years for burglary. FBI records show Bishop has a record for auto larceny, including a sentence at the National Training School for Boys in Washington, D.C.

Banker Calls Dixon Ark. Arm 'Corrupt'

approved as to form by the Atomic Energy Commission but has not been signed. AEC is the contracting agent since the private power would replace TVA electricity channeled to AEC installations at Paducah, Ky.

McLean described himself as an admirer of President Eisenhower. He said one reason for giving his testimony is a desire to keep "his (Eisenhower's) administration from becoming involved in any national scandal."

"If the contract is a fast negotiated deal," he said, "they may see the administration sold down the river by greed in the hope of accumulating a few million dollars."

McLean said he was speaking from a wide background of controversy with Arkansas Power. The fight began in 1935 with a dispute over electricity charges for a building owned by his bank.

McLean attacked a pending application to the state's Public Service Commission for a $3,900,000 a year increase in Arkansas Power's rates.

He said the increase "would be an outrage" and that the rates are so high now that the company risks "killing the goose that lays the golden eggs."

McLean said he now serves as a consultant to the state Public Service Commission on the proposed public rate increase. He said he wants it known that "there will be no bribery" to influence the commission. He said one reason is that he is "on the job," and another that commission members would not stand for it.

Sen. Kennedy Has Surgery

NEW YORK, Oct. 21 (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) was reported "very comfortable" tonight after undergoing a major operation to correct an undiagnosed spinal condition.

The Hospital for Special Surgery said the four-hour operation was "successful." No details were released.

Kennedy, 37, suffered a spine injury when a torpedo boat which he commanded in World War II was cut in two by a Japanese destroyer.

A Kick Out of Life

Up on Bobby Dodd's watchtower at Rose Bowl field the wind nipped devilishly at the ankle regions and crept chillingly up the trouser legs. Dodd, like a captain on the bridge, tucked the navy blue blanket a little tighter around his knees and gave off a sort of equine "Br-r-r-r."

On one side of the football outpost Ray Graves was vigorously operating the Georgia Tech defensive factory. On the other side Frank Broyles was directing offensive traffic. The athletes were lively, frisking about the grass, belting each other with exuberance.

"It's football weather," Dodd said. "Makes a fellow feel like hitting a little harder. Makes you feel like playing." Quickly he added: "Don't look at me. I didn't mean myself. I do believe, though, that we had better punters at Georgia Tech when I got out there and kicked with them."

"All it takes is time and practice and most any boy can become a good punter. Ever watch a bunch of team managers on the football field? Practically every one of them can punt and pass. That's about all they do during practice. They'll stand out there and kick the ball or pass and before long they're working at it until they're good punters and passers. Look at that boy there."

He pointed to a thin young manager playing catch with one of his associates. He didn't have an athletic frame but he delivered the ball with a rather stylish snap.

"I'll bet you he just learned that out here, just standing around passing during practice. Why, he can throw almost as good as the quarterbacks."

Best of Them All: Ralph Kercheval

The punt is a strategic weapon sort of lost in the shuffle for bigger and better offenses. The quick kick was once an exciting tactic vital to single wing teams, but the crush of T-formations has just about wiped it out.

"Punting is a funny thing," Dodd said. "Some fellows I've seen could quick-kick 50 and 60 yards but on a regular punt play they did good to get 30. I've watched punters before the game kick the ball a mile, but when it came time to kick under pressure they couldn't raise a loud foul."

"Best kicker I ever saw? No doubt about it, Ralph Kercheval of Kentucky. I've never seen a man who could punt like Kercheval, both for distance and consistency. His secret was great leg drive and timing. The way he kicked he made it look like he threw the ball at his foot. Actually, he dropped it one-handed and his timing was perfect."

"Once, back about 1932 or '33, I coached him on an all-star team. I played, too, I might add. They had Gene McEver and Buddy Hackman and me come back to Knoxville for this all-star game. They called it the Great Smoky Mountain all-star game, or something like that, and they were going to make it a classic."

"Well, it rained cats and dogs. The field was a quagmire, so there was only one thing for us to do—punt."

Sims Had a Variety of Boots

"That was one time I was glad to have that Kercheval on our side. I told our quarterback to kick on first down every time we got the ball until we got inside their 40 or 45-yard line. The first time we got the ball Kercheval blasted one 60 yards. Their kicker blasted it back about 60. Kercheval came back with another one. About the third exchange their kicker slithered one off his foot for 25 yards. It gave us the ball inside their 30-yard line. We scored on a pass and won, 6-0."

In his active days as a punting coach, Dodd turned out two charming products, Fletcher Sims, a quarterback in the late '30s, and Hawk Cavette, a guard who came along about Bill Alexander's Orange Bowl time.

"They were about the best punters at Tech in my time," Dodd said. "They were different types. Sims could punt the high spiral, end-over-end or line drive, whatever the situation required. Cavette was consistent. Everyone of his kicks were the same, high floaters and the ball took the same angle every time."

"The fellow who can kick all kinds of punts is more valuable, because he'll be kicking against all sorts of different teams and in all sorts of situations. Sims got to be a good punter just by practice. After scrimmage, we'd stay out on the field until dark, trying to drive one another out of the end zone. Sure enough, that's how Sims got to be a good punter. He just punted all the time."

The darkness was creeping in on Rose Bowl. The chill was pure cold now. The joints of the watchtower personnel had stiffened. Graves hollered up and requested two more minutes of scrimmage. Dodd said it was okay. He threw the blanket off, stood up, stretched and said, "Now let me see if I can get down this thing without breaking my kicking leg."

PEPPED UP EDUCATION BOARD FIRES PILL-PUSHING COACH

ASHLAND, Ohio, Oct. 21 (AP)—The basketball coach for nine years at Ashland High School has been fired for peppering up some of his players by feeding them drug stimulants before important games.

Cloyce E. Taylor, whose teams have won 157 games against 33 losses, admitted the practice at a board of education meeting Tuesday.

The 45-year-old coach said he gave a few starting players tablets of dextroamphetamine, a central nervous system stimulant. Four doctors assured him the pills were harmless, he said.

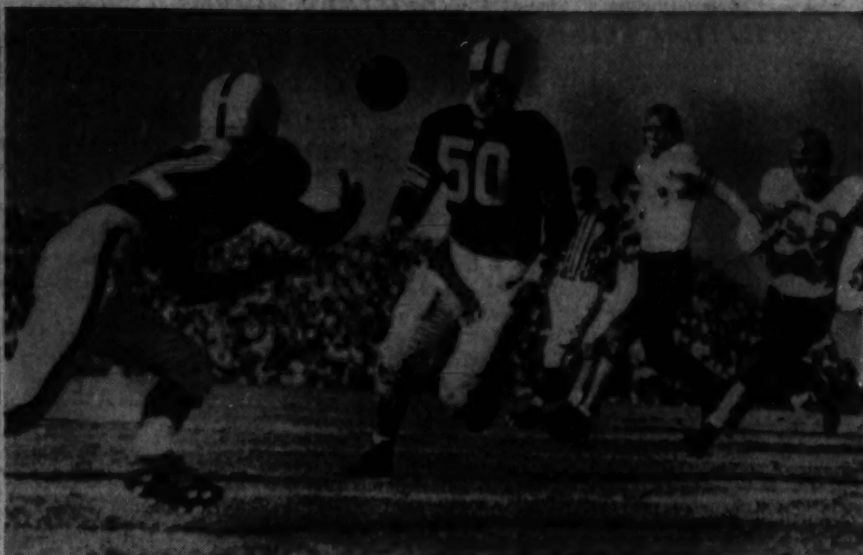

"I didn't see anything wrong with it," Taylor declared. "I may have made a mistake, but what would you do after talking to four doctors?"

Board president Richard Bear told Taylor: "No one is more sorry about this than I am, but we have no other course than to demand your resignation."

School authorities, who contacted 10 boys who played on Taylor's teams, said none complained of any harmful effects from the drug, though some said it gave them a "high-pitched sensation" and others suffered some sleeplessness the night after taking a pill.

Taylor played basketball and football for Findlay College at Findlay, Ohio, his home town. He is married and has two daughters.

Twice his teams advanced to district championship games in Ohio tournament competition, where they gained a 15-9 record.

Nine-Man Syndicate Awaits Tight-Lipped Harridge Move

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 21 (AP)—The nine-man syndicate which has purchased the Philadelphia Athletics said tonight it can't understand what is holding up American League approval of the deal.

Arthur Rosenberg, spokesman for the local group, said after an all-day meeting of the new owners, that if "favorable or unfavorable news isn't received from Will Harridge by tomorrow, two men will be sent to Chicago to talk with the American League president."

Rosenberg emphasized that he did not want to antagonize Harridge or the other American League owners, but that he would like to know what is delaying the league approval.

"We have sent Harridge a list of the new owners with their financial and social background. Roy Mack has informed the league president that he and his brother, Earle, and father, Connie, have sold us the club. If there is any other information Harridge wants we are not aware of what it is," Rosenberg said.

The syndicate spokesman explained that his group is at a disadvantage. "Under baseball law, we can't contact Harridge and demand approval. Only the selling stockholders can deal with the league office. We have to wait until we're approved or called in for consultation."

Rosenberg said that at today's meeting the final details of the agreement were completed and that the document is in the hands of the Macks for signing. They expect to have it signed, sealed and delivered tomorrow. At the end of the meeting today the group issued the following statement:

"At our meeting today, final details were reviewed by the group and presented to the Mack family for their approval. More important, however, we are awaiting word from Mr. Harridge that we have league approval. If word is not received by tomorrow, we will request a meeting with him."

In Chicago earlier today, Harridge said that Roy Mack still had not provided him with the signed bill of particulars. The league president says this is necessary for league approval. Harridge claimed his office could not act in the matter until the agreement is "signed, sealed and delivered."

Munn Returns To Coaching—Seventh Grade!

EAST LANSING, Mich., Oct. 21 (AP)—Biggie Munn has returned to the football coaching lines—as boss of a seventh-grade team on which his 12-year-old son plays.

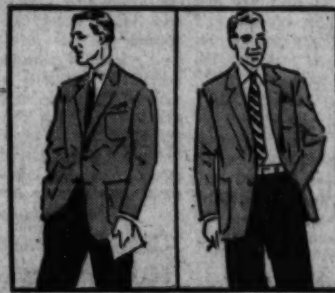

Munn left his coaching job at Michigan State to become athletic director, but the old coaching urge remains.

Kansas City failed, Rosenberg said his group had no comment. Apparently, the syndicate does not wish to get into a battle of words with Johnson that would embarrass the American League. They'll have plenty of time to answer any of his charges if and when he files a suit.

Johnson said in Chicago he was contemplating a suit against Roy Mack and the syndicate. He said he wanted to recover losses he said he sustained in connection with the A's deal that never went through.

People here can't understand Harridge's delay in approving the deal. The American League president didn't have any signed, sealed and delivered agreement in Chicago two weeks ago when the American League approved the sale of the A's to Johnson and subsequent transfer to Kansas City. The member clubs were polled and approval granted without even a deal being made between Roy Mack and Johnson. Why the delay here then when an actual deal has been consummated?

Gamecocks Take Win Over Clemson, 13-8

Prickett Leader as USC

Chalks Fourth Win in Row

By MEL DERRICK
Constitution Sports Writer

COLUMBIA, S.C., Oct. 21—South Carolina's Mackie Prickett, a sophomore quarterback who could give Dusty Rhodes some lessons, turned in numerous heroics here Thursday to literally lift the Gamecocks over Clemson's Tigers, 13-8.

Among other things, Prickett: Scored both USC touchdowns from two yards out, sneaking for the first, swinging wide on a keep for the second.

Intercepted a Don King pass on his own seven to kill Clemson's last threat with 2:15 left.

Personally ran the clock out then in only three plays, carrying each time himself.

Completed nine of 14 passes for 87 yards.

Carried 10 times for 38 yards. Regained his Atlantic Coast Conference total offense lead from Maryland's Charlie Boxold with 444 yards rushing and passing for the season.

The victory was the fourth straight for Rex Enright's Roosters, a new Carolina record for Big Thursday wins in a row.

Trailing 2-13 in the final period, Clemson almost managed to pull the bitter contest out.

The comeback started with an 81-yard scoring play, longest for the Tigers this season. Don King took the ball on his own 19, handed off to sophomore halfback Joel Wells on what looked like a routine wide play. But Wells suddenly cut back, shot a long pass to

Confidence Boosts Brand of Tech Play

Dodd Sees Win Saturday With 'More of the Same'

By BILL ALLEN

If experience is, as Coach Bobby Dodd has proclaimed long and loud, the best teacher of football, then team confidence is the crucible that has molded the Yellow Jackets into a squad one touchdown better than the one which defeated Southern Methodist—on a break—three weeks ago.

Dodd said Thursday that if his boys play as well as they played against LSU and Auburn in their past two encounters "we should beat Kentucky—and, mind you, we respect them," for the homecoming Saturday.

He thanked Dame Fortune as he looked over the linemen and backs that have shoveled their fortitude into the gap of inexperience, and who now deliver a craftsmanlike performance on the gridiron.

"The experience they've gotten has built up a confidence in one another," Dodd said, "and where they were pretty ragged in the first game—including the SMU game which we were fortunate to win—they now know their business."

He pointed to Carl Vereen, Frank Christy and Ormand Anderson at tackle; to Jimmy Thompson and Paul Rutenberry on offense in the backfield and to quarterback Wade Mitchell's defensive heroics.

"We have been lucky about injuries, too," Dodd pointed out, "and all the boys have gotten to play together, getting offensive and defensive knocks together, so they have a lot of faith in one another and in the whole team."

"I would say that we have a pretty good football machine, no matter who's in now, with great team ability, and if we play like we played to beat Auburn and LSU, we should beat Kentucky and have a pretty good season barring serious injuries."

The Master of the Flats has no special knockout cocktail planned for the Kentucky Wildcats Saturday except that he wants the same caliber game Tech had against the War Eagle cousins.

Only varsity men who will not dress for the game is Don Miller, tackle with a leg injury. Flu-ridden guard Allen Ecker showed up well and will be available.

O'Malley Had Finest Day With Tulane

ATHENS, Oct. 21—Georgia Captain Joe O'Malley Saturday returns to the Sugar Bowl—scene of one of his finest grid performances.

In 1952, the Bulldogs were trailing Tulane, 16-14, with 2:16 remaining. Tulane was on their own 37, third down and four to go, when O'Malley tackled Pete Clement so hard that he pitched badly to Max McGee and the Bulldogs recovered.

The great Zeke Bratkowski connected with three of four passes, the last one going 16 yards for the winning score, with 2:14 remaining. O'Malley performed a similar feat in Sanford Stadium last weekend when he set up the winning Georgia field goal with a blocked punt when time was running out.

Jordan Has Tigers On Alert for Bombing

Special to The Constitution

AUBURN, Ala., Oct. 21—A new Southern rivalry opens Saturday afternoon in Cliff Hare Stadium when Auburn plays host to the FSU Seminoles and their "flying high" circus.

The collegiate circus entertains the fans at halftime, but the upcoming young football team has no intent on entertaining. They're after an upset and national recognition.

Auburn's final full-padded workout Thursday emphasized stopping the great aerial game of Coach Tom Nugent's. During the past three games they have thrown eight TD passes and 6-7 end Tom Feamster has caught four of them.

"We plan on opening up our passing attack," Jordan said. "We have used it during the season but have never concentrated on it. Saturday will be the good test for our air strength."

Bobby Freeman sports the second best passing percentage in the nation and has the sixth leading receiver in All-America Jim Pyburn.

TIGER SCRATCHES: Freeman to Pyburn highlighted the Thursday drills. Connecting seven times during the workout against freshman defenders, FSU started playing football in 1947 and since that time have played 28 games winning 15 and losing 13 and tying one.

LM Fob James is now alternating with both the X and Y teams and will see service with both Saturday for the first time. "He is too good a runner to have sitting on the bench," Jordan says. Len Swanto sophomore QB from Columbus will start for the Seminoles. Right Half Olas Cunningham is the only man counted out of the game.

Sophomore quarterback Don Stevens and right half Gordon Swordsman were back in pads for the first time since breaking their hands during the first week of practice. FSU's starting lineup consists of one frosh, four sophs, four juniors and two seniors.

Bob Paredes' PAT try wobbled off to the right, but the Tigers were trailing by only five points with 9:55 left in a position to win with another TD.

Willie Smith, Clemson soph from Spartanburg, put the Tigers in scoring position two series later, recovering Bill Tarrar's fumble on the USC 33. And Coach Howard rushed quarterback Don King, used sparingly after a first period injury, into the game.

King managed to lose 10 yards.

Wild Red Berry makes his debut on the city auditorium mat Friday night when he meets Chief Big Heart in the feature event of a card that will include a semi-final bout, a tag team match and a single preliminary.

HEAVY ARTILLERY AIMED

Butts May Unload Fullbacks On Green Wave En Masse

ATHENS, Oct. 21—Wallace Butts Thursday toyed with the idea of throwing a trio of hard-running fullbacks at Tulane Saturday in New Orleans.

The master gridiron juggler outlined a ground corps composed of Bob Clemens at his regular fullback slot, Bobby Garrard working from left halfback and Knox Culpepper running at right halfback.

With these three in the game at one time, the Georgia quarterback could count on at least four yards every time he called a running play, according to rushing statistics.

Coach Butts grinned at the mention of a four-yard guarantee, but Garrard is sporting a 6.5 average, Clemens 5.1 and Culpepper 4.8 a trip.

Garrard and Culpepper have been learning the dual assignments all week and will be ready for double action if the situation demands.

"You can say we're going to Tulane by air, but we'll try to go through Tulane on the ground," assistant coach Quinton Lumpkin quipped.

A 41-man traveling squad was posted Thursday afternoon with two names conspicuously absent. Utility halfback Jimmy Williams is still on crutches and Jimmy Campagna will stay home to nurse his reinjured shoulder.

With Williams and Campagna in Athens and John Bell on the recuperation list, left halfback becomes a real problem for the Bulldogs.

Coach Butts revealed that Wendell Tarleton, shifty Atlanta soph, was a probable starter if Georgia received the kickoff. Otherwise it will be Garrard or the ailing Bell.

Frankenberger and Callahan To Sub for Injured Stars

Condensed from Wire Reports
Coach Blanton Collier announced Thursday that Sophomore tackle J. T. Frankenberger of Louisville, and converted fullback Ray Callahan, a right guard now, will play for injured co-captains Joe Kock and Pete Kirk at these positions against Georgia Tech Saturday.

However, several performers considered doubtful starters practiced in the drills against Tech ground plays and pass defense.

Heretofore thought lost, but named to the 35-man traveling squad that will reach Atlanta about noon Friday were: Fullback Bobby Walker, and guards Neil Lowry and Bob Bennett. Kentucky will work out briefly at Tech's practice field Friday at 3:30 p.m.

OTHER SEC: Tulane still was holding contact drill for all the regulars in preparation for the Georgia game in New Orleans. Flashy tackle Charles Coates, injured for two weeks, was full-rigged for battle and Coach Andy Pilney announced full strength first squad. The Green Wave worked on punting and aerial fundaments.

Darrell Royal put the finishing touches on his Mississippi State attack for the Alabama game, emphasizing passing offense. Guard Max Williams is the only definite loss to the Maroons. . . . LSU held its last drill, before the Florida night game at Baton Rouge and big Leon Deutschmann ran without a brace for the first time in the season. . . . Florida's Gators were determined to whip their night-game jinx in Baton Rouge—(they haven't won a major night game in two years)—and stuck mainly to signal calling drills. . . . Alabama's Crimson Tide punted and drilled defensive formations for homecoming against the Maroons. Earl Starr, Jerry Chiapparelli, Jerry Ward and Ed Oulpepper will be out of the game. . . . Big Tennessee sophomore John (Drama) Majors turned up with a knee injury at Tennessee scaring the wits out of the faithful in Knoxville, but trainers considered the ailment minor. Capt. Darrell McCord, senior end and Jimmy Wade, however, will miss the Dayton game. The Ole Miss folk view their tussle with Arkansas as "Game of the Year" but they worked without pads for Coach John Vaughn in their last pre game practice.

ACC: North Carolina concentrated on defensive moves, closing out roughness for the Wake Forest encounter. Not one player is missing with an injury. . . . The Deacons, however, did not tussle, but worked at aerial fundamentals. . . . N.C. State's Wolves did contact work—mostly defensive—in their last preparation for the Duke tussle. . . . Duke worked on goal line offense and defense and reviewed play timing.

Chamblee Bees Win

Georgia Tech and Georgia are both liked by the staffers of the Constitution.

Tech is picked unanimously to whip Kentucky here on Homecoming Day, and the men from Athens are a 9-0 pick over Tulane at New Orleans.

In a national game that will throw much light on the Big 10 fight, Ohio State is a slight 5-4 choice over Wisconsin.

Charlie Roberts is still leading the Consensus Picks on a season basis with 136 correct out of 248 for an average of .787.

Wellington, Farr Spark O'Keefe To 6-0 Edge Over Murphy

Groover, Darby Lead Rugged Irish Defense; Davis, Garner and Cook Star for Eagles

By CHARLIE ROBERTS

Richard Wellington, who sounds as if he should be playing the lead role in an English movie, played the lead role in a touchdown drive that netted O'Keefe's Irish a 6-0 football victory over Murphy High's Eagles Thursday night at Grady Stadium.

Wellington's sudden penchant for gridiron heroics started even avid Irish fans, because the 160-pound fullback had never started but one other game for Hank Langston's Freeway free-wheelers. But Thursday night, he and Farrell Farr, the redhead in a green helmet, were the spark-after running the ball only three times. Davis hauled through the heaviest of going for 44 yards on 14 carries. King plunged 46 yards on the same number of efforts.

Defensive play was of highest order on both sides. Murphy center Frank Greene pounced upon an Irish fumble at the O'Keefe 35 midway through the second quarter, but Billy Benton made a sensational, leaping interception of a touchdown-labeled Murphy pass in the end zone moments later.

Phillip Groover, 245-pound tackle; guard Robert Darby, line-backer Bobby Mitchell and center Ora Stradley made life miserable for every Murphy runner that stuck his nose into the Irish middle. End Donald Long rushed Murphy punter Mel Cook unmercifully.

Guard Jim Garner, backing up the line; end Norman Bone, tackle Jerry Holland and the hard-hitting Davis made offensive life drudgery for Irish carriers. So, when it was done, the Farr-Wellington job in early game had iced the decision.

plugs who put the spark in the hard-earned City League victory.

The touchdown drive was for 80 yards. It took 12 running plays, deftly engineered by the incomparable Farr. It came in the first quarter the first time the Irish got their hands on the ball—after halting an Eagle surge of 34 yards at the Irish 20.

Young Wellington knifed through the middle for 19 yards on the first play. Lewis Seagraves mashed for two, and here came Wellington for six. Seagraves bulled for nine, David Jallitte three, and then it was Wellington for 21 to the Eagles 26.

The crafty Farr pulled his pet split-T "keep" for 5 then 12 yards around end. Bobby Mitchell munched two yards to the one and, after two plays failed and the drive seemed thwarted, Farr dived over on fourth down. Farr's kick was wide, but scoring was over for the night.

Wellington, the night's big runner, slashed 81 yards on seven runs for an 11.6 yards-per-try average. Farr, who is to O'Keefe's offense what ham is to eggs—what makes it good—rummaged along for 48 yards on 12 "keepers," and had a 59-yard "touchdown" run called back for an early third-quarter penalty.

Hal Davis, the workhorse fullback who sparked brightly at guard on defense, and Norman King lugged almost the entire Murphy offensive burden as Bema Martin was injured

SYLVAN'S ALVIN DAVIS FALLS INTO SOUTHWEST TACKLER JIMMY WAITS
Bear Back Dropped to Earth After Reeling Off Five Yards in Victory Over Wolves, 26-12

Mixed Sylvan Attack Baffles Wolves, 26-12

Davis, Frapart Shatter Southwest Squad; McDuffy Leads Pack's Vain Offense

By MORT PERSKY

Sylvan High mixed its varied attack in the Cheney Stadium cocktail shaker Thursday night and came up with a 26-12 Mickey Finn for Southwest's hard-dying Wolves.

Three times Sylvan dispatched big fullback George Frapart on short scoring missions, and three times Frapart powered his way for the final two or three yards. But Frapart was far from being the whole show for the winners. Quarterback Allen Davis arched a 60-yard scoring pass to end Mike Allison on the first play of the game and thereafter he and halfback Jerry Williams did most of Sylvan's heavy running duty in three long drives to the double stripes.

Southwest halfback Marshall McDuffy continually ragged on his share of Sylvan's victory concoction. McDuffy's distance sprinting accounted for both Southwest touchdowns, and he set up the TD's with long runs and a single 15-yard pass to end Michel Gower. McDuffy's scoring sprints were for 33 and 22 yards.

Guard Wayne Patterson of Sylvan came out on top in his duel of defenders with Southwest linebacker Buddy Walton. Besides getting more than his fair share of Bear tackles, Patterson (1) intercepted a pass to start the first Sylvan scoring drive, (2) blocked Southwest's first extra-point kick, and (3) broke up a long McDuffy pass to end a late enemy threat on his own 20.

Walton didn't turn in any spectacular heroics, but in one third-quarter stretch he accounted for five consecutive tackles.

Frapart bulldozed for nine yards in three carries to give Sylvan a 12-0 bulge in the second period after a classy catch by Cliff Cleveland turned a Davis heave into a 20-yard advance.

But Southwest, spurred by McDuffy, came back to score a quick touchdown and make the first half statistics read like those of a standoff. Sylvan had only six first downs to the losers' five at halftime.

Jerry Williams churned the turf in large chunks to propel the winning team into a big statistical lead during the second half. It was Williams who spearheaded the Bears to seven points in each of the last two quarters.

Davis successfully place-kicked both extra points after failing to make the grade on his first two

Here's a Monopoly, Daddy, Daughter Win

By JIMMY MANN

The Walter Lawson singles bowling tournament was strictly a family affair last week at the Luckie Strike alleys. Billy Allen rolled a seven game series of 890 and his daughter, Danine Kilpatrick, recorded 893. Billy walked over the men and Danine whipped the women.

Skip Hogan was the nearest finisher to Allen, he knocked down 874 in his seven tries. Third place in the men's competition went to Gene Sirbaugh, 863, Albert Burrell was fourth with 863 and Doyle Darden got fifth place money with 856.

Joanne Thompson was second in the women's division with 825 and Kathryn Herder's 815 took third place.

A week from Saturday a tournament has been set up at Luckie Strike to enable the lesser skilled rollers to get in on the act.

The Limited Doubles affair pits two man teams against each other with a 228 handicap limit. For the women the pair can have only a 195 average. Some of the low average players expected to show well include Noel Connors (93), Leland Harris (102), Ed Gladling (100), Carl Raper (104) and Hayden Snoderly (106).

PIT BITS:
At first it looked as if Randall Brothers were going to walk off with the City 10 Pin bowling crown this half, but now that the teams have gotten a fair crack at each other the leaders' grip on the top rung has slackened some and Miller's, last year's champs, and Southern Tech are closing in

Rise Stevens Is Delightful Despite Rude Latecomers

By ALEX JOINER JR.

An unusually ill-mannered audience tried its best but wasn't able to steal the thunder from a top-form Rise Stevens on Thursday night's first All Star concert.

Stunning in a green velvet gown and in beautiful voice, the Metropolitan Opera mezzo overcame odds that would have sent a lesser artist fleeing to the wings.

She smiled graciously and waited patiently as an amazing number of music-lovers arrived as late as intermission and left before the last encore, the "Habenera" from "Carmen."

It was their loss. The entire program was a delight—all of it.

TINGLING QUALITY

She brought a faultless intonation to the first half selection of songs by Handel, Grieg, Wolf, Brahms and Strauss, and a wonderful new version of Gluck's "Gods of Eternal Night" from "Alceste" in English by John Gutman.

Much of the first portion was in English, as a matter of fact.

SWITCH IN MOOD

She evinced in the operatic excerpts a perfect understanding of note values and a lovely tone.

And was able to switch mood completely for the encores—"Look, Edwin," a charming piece of nonsense, "Were You There When They Crucified My Lord?" and the aforesaid "Habenera," of which Miss Stevens is the acknowledged world master.

She is fortunate, too, in her accompanist, James Shomate, a splendid musician in his own right.

Opening the second half of the concert he performed, to warm applause, Debussy's "Prelude in a minor," Ravel's "Minuet," and Faure's "Impromptu in A-flat Major, No. 3." Called back for an encore, he essayed Dame Myra Hess' inspiring arrangement of "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring."

The more than 4,000 people that heard the program came away well satisfied, anticipating the next All-Star attraction, the Concertgebouw Orchestra, which comes Nov. 17.

But hoping perhaps they'll require late comers, especially women in high heels, to check their shoes at the door.

Wage Raise Set

A 15-cent per hour wage increase and certain fringe benefits have been granted the Plumbers and Steamfitters, Local Union 72, a spokesman said Thursday.

The wage hike and a two-and-one-half-cent-per-hour increase on health and welfare benefits will go into effect Oct. 28, raising the wage scale to $3.05 per hour and the health and welfare benefits to 10 cents an hour.

Local 72, one of six locals involved in the recent statewide construction work stoppage, returned to their jobs less than one month after construction halted and carried their case to the Industrial Relations Council.

The wage and benefit increases will affect 700 persons, the Local 72 spokesman said.

Egyptian Archaeologists Arrive in Atlanta

Two Egyptian archaeologists who won worldwide fame last spring by discovering throwing new light on the lives of ancient pharaohs arrived in Atlanta Thursday night with a party of other prominent Egyptians now in the United States on a goodwill tour.

They were Kamal Mallakh, finder of the 5,000-year-old solar boat of the Pharaoh Cheops, and Dr. Zakaria Ghoneim, discoverer of the unfinished pyramid of the hitherto unknown Pharaoh Sekhem-Khet, of the Third dynasty, believed to antedate Cheops by a century.

Also in the party were Mohyeddine El Shazley, director of the Egyptian State Department of Tourism; Rahsad Mourad, press counselor of the Egyptian embassy in Washington, and Dr. M. A. El Erian, director of the Egyptian State Tourist Office in New York.

They were greeted on arrival here by John E. Correll, chairman of the World Trade Council and foreign trade specialist of the U.S. Department of Commerce; Frank Shaw, of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce; C. H. Mashburn and Fritz Schwaemle, of Delta-C&S Air Lines. The delegation will be officially welcomed at 10:30 a.m. Friday at Mayor Hartsfield's office, and will visit Hoke Smith High School at 11:30 a.m., before attending a luncheon at the Atlanta Athletic Club at 12:30 p.m.

IS ANOTHER REFORMATION NEEDED?

There is no understanding the Protestant Reformation apart from a prior understanding of conditions within the church and society that made it possible and necessary. The Reformation ended the period known to history as the Dark Ages. There are forces afoot in the world today that could well presage another time of religious and moral decay. America's crime wave, the spread of Communism, an educational system that produces a secular mind, an expanding clericalism, and a forensic, rather than a vital faith, sound a dirge that should not go unheeded. We find in the period prior to the Dark Ages a set of parallel circumstances. What brought on the Dark Ages?

1. Expectancy Had Given Way to Complacency. The New Testament is replete with references to the second coming of Christ. Inspired by this expectancy, the early believers went forth to evangelize the world. When that hope was unrealized, worldliness set in and the night came on.

2. Faith Was Largely Supplanted by The Faith. In the New Testament, faith means primarily a personal commitment to Christ as Saviour and Lord. When Christianity met Gnosticism, it became necessary for Christianity to define itself. Out of this attempt came the creeds, and with the birth of the creeds, the meaning of faith was changed. No longer was faith a personal commitment to Christ, but an unquestioning acceptance of dogma and ecclesiastical authority. Such is faith to millions today.

3. Government Displaced Gospel as a Medium of Expansion. With the conversion of Constantine, the church-state arose. The Roman Empire was dying and Christianity crawled inside its shell and adopted its structure and methods. Laying the Gospel aside, the church, astride the back of government, holding a statement of faith in one hand and a cat-o-nine-tails in the other, rode across the land. The submissive were added to the fold and the rebellious killed or anathematized. We have with us today those who would harness government to their ecclesiastical chariot, no matter what the cost to those who believe in a free church in a free state.

4. The Cry of the Prophet Became the Chant of the Priest. Christianity arose on the wings of mighty preaching. Christianity stands or falls, lives or dies, with preaching. When the church grew large, priestly orders arose to develop the membership. Spiritual religion went to sleep behind monastic walls and for a thousand years was undisturbed by the priestly incantations. When Martin Luther, himself a monk, rediscovered Romans and Galatians, he started preaching: "The Just Shall Live by Faith." His preaching was a trumpet blast that awoke the sleeping church and sent it on its way with the Gospel of Christ.

Whatever else Christianity needs today, it needs a revival of preaching—preaching of the prophetic type that will move the people of God to press the battle against tyranny and sin. And so we hail this Reformation Sunday as a day for a reconsideration of that which is truly vital to a spiritual and militant Christianity.

grants are made directly to the child, he stated.

"The amendment takes no action and requires none," Talmadge asserted. "It is merely an enabling act which frees the hands of the representatives to avert the breakdown of the state's educational system which necessarily will follow a Supreme Court order for mixed schools."

Ingram said a private school operator becomes an "agent" of the state in that he is fulfilling the state's obligation to provide an education for its citizens, and is doing it with state funds.

"An agent of the state would be bound by the same court decision that binds the state, itself," the former City Court judge asserted. "There is no way the state, by any system, can follow its educational money to the end result without having to follow the court's decision."

Ingram predicted that the fact that the Legislature, governor, attorney general and Georgia Education Commission have advertised the amendment as a plan to avoid complying with the court decision would be offered as evidence in the court hearings.

CIVIL RIGHTS

In suggesting the "three-school" plan advocated in the gubernatorial campaign by Tom Linder, Ingram said he didn't see how a person's civil rights would be violated if he had a choice of attending mixed or segregated schools.

Pye declared Georgia's schools need not lose their accredited standing if the system is changed from public to private. Private schools are accredited now, he pointed out. The state would continue to operate schools on a high level to warrant accreditation, he promised.

However, Pye warned, if the courts force the schools to close and the Legislature hasn't the power to make educational grants, Georgia will have no schools at all, he added.

TWO GOVERNORS

The Griffin-Talmadge joint statement said that:

1. The amendment does not abolish the public school system.
2. The teacher retirement system will continue undiminished and uninterrupted.
3. The state constitutional provision requiring separation of church and state would stand in violation and none of the grants could be used for religious education.
4. Grants would cover all costs of books, tuition, transportation and all other educational expenses.
5. Schools would continue to operate with the same high academic standards now in force.
6. The amendment is solely a "last resort" measure to be utilized only when needed to preserve free, segregated schools.

Car Sales in 1955 May Soar to Third in Rank

that a "prospect" is not necessarily a "buyer," should note that in all but one of the last six years the number of new cars sold exceeded the survey's advance estimate of the number of prospects.

A potential market of 5,600,000, though, is no guarantee that everybody will sell more cars. The coming year still shapes up as one of the most competitive in automotive history.

The six manufacturers are pinning their hopes on 18 different models, 11 of which have new bodies and engines. Most of the companies have revamped and enlarged their advertising and merchandising activities.

Each will be striving to grab as much of the others' share as possible, and each has taken steps to get more business.

American Motors Corp., under the leadership of its new president, George W. Romney, will bring out completely new Nash and Hudson models early in December and January in an effort to regain nearly 1 1/2 per cent of the market which they lost this year. They now have something under 2 1/2 per cent of the total market.

Chrysler Corp. is going all out to garner at least 20 per cent of the 1955 total for the industry. That's what they had in 1953, but Chrysler sales this year have dwindled to around 13 per cent. This company has spent more than 250 million dollars to revamp its entire line from stem to stern, including new V-8 engines for the Plymouth and Chrysler Windsor and improved V-8 power plants for the other models.

FORD DEVELOPMENTS

Ford Motor Co., which has shown the biggest increases this year, has no intention of backing up in 1955. The Ford and Mercury will have new bodies and improved V-8 engines, hoping increased V-8 demand in the coming year will bring a competitive advantage through production capacity. The new Lincoln will be changed only slightly. Three new cars will include the Fairlane (tops in the Ford line), the Thunderbird (a sports or "personal" car) and the Continental (a new version of the famed Lincoln Continental to sell "under $10,000").

General Motors will introduce its all-new Chevrolet and Pontiac models Oct. 27, both of which will feature new V-8s. GM holds around 50 per cent of the total auto market, and Chevrolet, its leading line, has been top-seller in America since 1936. But the challenge from low-price competitors is stronger now than ever before. The other GM cars, Buick, Oldsmobile and Cadillac, will be face-lifted by the time they bow in between Nov. 15 and 20.

KAISER-WILLYS

Kaiser-Willys will probably bring out its 1955 models before the end of the year, and hopes to at least hold even with 1954, which was about half as good as 1953. The Willys will have a new grille and tail light assembly, while the Kaiser will remain about as it was this year. These will be the only strictly six-cylinder cars left on the market.

PRICE PROSPECT

Studebaker-Packard has already introduced its 1955 "face-lifted" V-8 Studebaker, which will have to compete with three brand-new models for sales in the low-price field. But a brand-new Packard will come out early in January with a new V-8 engine and revolutionary suspension system to improve its competitive position.

In addition to V-8 engines, most of the new cars will have wrap-around windshields and tubeless tires. The horsepower race is continuing full-steam ahead in the 1955 models, despite authoritative surveys which show more than 60 per cent of the new-car prospects don't want any more horsepower than they have in their present cars.

The price outlook is still muddled. Studebaker led off with price cuts ranging from $37 to $285, but the other manufacturers are withholding any comment.

A number of independent analysts, however, predict that 1955 models will cost about the same as their predecessors. As tough as the competition will be next year, the experts say, it isn't likely to affect manufacturer-suggested retail prices.
One thing does seem certain, though: a whale of a battle between Chevrolet and Ford for first place in sales. And for that matter, the third-place scrap between Buick and Plymouth will make an interesting "preliminary" bout.

New FORD THUNDERBIRD

A personal car of distinction
...with Trigger-Torque performance

No matter what you have come to expect in a car, you'll be delighted at the wealth of conveniences the Thunderbird offers. Two tops are available: a disappearing fabric top... and an easy-to-lift-on hard top. The extra-wide vinyl upholstered seat is foam-rubber-cushioned... power-operated 4 ways. Windows roll up... by power, if you like. There is a tachometer... and a clock with a sweep second hand. There is a telescoping steering wheel. The baggage compartment is ample. And you can have all of Ford's optional power assists: power steering, power brakes... Overdrive or Fordomatic Drive.

Something totally fresh is here—a bewitching new all-steel beauty that sets the styling keynote for other Ford cars to come.

But, styling gives the merest hint of what the Thunderbird has to offer. For here is a car you can drive with assurance and pleasure... for business or for recreation.

In traffic and on the open road the Thunderbird's Trigger-Torque performance is literally a revelation. Here is hair-trigger response... fleet, liquid agility... backed by a reserve of swift, sure power to meet safety's every demand.

Trigger-Torque performance stems from Ford's new Thunderbird Special V-8—a high-torque engine with 4-barrel carburetor, dual exhausts, wide-opening valves and Ford's famous low-friction design. And to enhance the performance characteristics of this brilliant V-8 engine, the Thunderbird provides special rear axle ratios to match the transmission of your choice—Conventional, Overdrive, or new Speed-Trigger Fordomatic.

Then, in the ride department, Ford's Ball-Joint Front Suspension really works wonders. It not only velvet-cushions your ride, it also allows the Thunderbird to handle with utmost ease—to corner with greatest stability. And when it comes to stopping, brakes are big and powerful.

But, more important is the way the Thunderbird is engineered, designed... and built! For it is the product of the same advanced engineering... the same manufacturing skills that have made Ford products so dependable, so value-full and so desirable to so many.

The bidding:
 North Pass South Pass West 1 diamond Pass 2 no trump Pass 3 no trump Pass Pass Pass Opening lead: Four of spades.
 A study in lead control is offered to the student in today's hand.

The bidding is strictly textbook stuff. North opens with one diamond and South's hand just about meets with the requirements for a two no trump response, forcing to game. He has 13 points in high cards and protection in all suits. While strictly speaking he has no stopper in clubs, the possession of five cards in the suit is reasonably good protection against a sustained attack from that direction.

West opened the four of spades and declarer could count eight deliverable tricks with the king of hearts representing a potential ninth, provided East has the ace of hearts. The club suit, too, offers a chance for the development of a game-going trick.

Proper procedure is to go after clubs first, because if the ace of hearts is with East, declarer is in no danger, and the heart trick can be developed at will. The important consideration is to develop the club suit in such a way as to prevent East from getting the lead. This will require a bit of good luck.

Declarer wins the first trick with the jack of spades and leads a club. West plays the queen which is the first bit of good luck. West is permitted to hold the trick and leads another spade which is taken in the South hand. Another club lead brings forth the king from

If the children are well, why not include them in the vacation also? The three chief points to consider are adequate rest, clean food and water, and amusement to prevent their becoming restless. We have incorporated several suggestions along this line into our leaflet, traveling with children by auto. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for this leaflet.

New Cook Road Series Is Unique

One of the most unusual series of records since the advent of LP is Road Recordings, 10 disks issued by Emory Cook. Though most of them were recorded incidentally while on other assignments and are thus more or less by-products, they should have considerable appeal to certain collectors. Cook, who is generally regarded as the High Priest of High Fidelity, wisely designates some of these releases as of low or medium fidelity, as the case may be, since they were recorded under adverse technical conditions. A complete explanation of the contents of each disk is provided on the jacket so that the buyer will know what he is getting.

Perhaps old Cook fans will enjoy most "Camp Has a Ball." Red Camp surpasses all previous efforts. He's having a good time and so does the listener. Two other hi-fi disks in the series include Callopie and Carousel, so reminiscent of the circus that one expects to find sawdust on the living room floor, and Marimba Band, which reproduces the big six-man marimba so strikingly that one might complain that the fi is too hi.

Three disks (medium-fi) are devoted to story-telling: (1) voices of old sailing skippers, (2) stories of cave and cave-men (3) whaling stories. First listenings are extremely intriguing.

Another disk is devoted to K. C. Douglas, who plays the guitar and sings the blues. Douglas is no Leachelly but who is? At times he is quite repetitious, but blues enthusiasts will want to investigate this one.

The remaining three disks include: Caribbean music which may appeal to those who love the exotic; Tirolo, billed as the best drummer in Haiti, in an unearthly voodoo show; square dancing and folk music right off the floor.

One's Bravery Is Contagious

This case is about myself and my family.

"Pop sells himself by talking enthusiastically," our youngest son recently commented to my wife.

Well, David is correct. Every good salesman sells himself with each repetition of his own sales story.

For you can enthuse yourself simply by going through the proper motions and reciting the proper ideas.

A French therapist named Coue tried to sell America on that positive viewpoint a generation ago. He urged people to talk to themselves and say:

"Day by day in every way I am becoming healthier and healthier."

For if you continually say a thing, you will soon believe it and so will your audience or customers.

ENTHUSIASM IS CONTAGIOUS
Enthusiasm is contagious. If you put on even the mechanical "show" of courage, soon you will begin to feel that way.

"Act the way you'd like to be and soon you'll be the way you act," is a motto I have stressed repeatedly in this column, for it is correct.

"One man with courage makes a majority," said Andrew Jackson.

"Start me with 10 who are southeasterly men and I'll soon have you 10,000 more," runs the famous marching song by Rhomb.

By the same token, you can scare a crowd by a whispering campaign of fear and doubt.

You can launch a panic by negative thinking and frequent repetition of your timid worries.

THINK POSITIVELY
So every man should stand up and be counted on the side of morality and positive thinking.

Even if you don't feel up to par, throw out your chest and ACT the way you'd like to be. Soon you'll be the way you act. But in the meantime you will irradiate dozens of your companions with your ACTING.

They'll then feel happier and healthier and more competent. The chief difference between the coward and the brave person is just the simple fact that the coward is afraid and shows it.

The brave man is also terrified but he refuses to ACT that way. Instead, he puts up an appearance of bravery.

Value of building construction authorized in Atlanta thus far in 1954 exceeds that of the comparable period last year by more than $5,000,000, records in the office of Building Inspector William R. Wofford showed Thursday.

Wofford said construction values through Thursday totaled $71,536,680 for 8,262 permits, as against values listed at $65,433,391 for the 9,292 permits issued through October, 1953. The current month has more than another week to run.

Predictions that 1954 permits may reach $90,000,000 and top the record established last year when values were recorded at $80,950,592 for 10,506 permits issued appear to be safe, Wofford said.

The rules, to become effective Jan. 21, 1955, provide that those breeding or dealing in the birds must have a permit from the Health Department.

Speedy Schedule for Queen Mother

NEW YORK, N.Y., Oct. 21—When Britain's Queen Mother Elizabeth arrives in New York next week, she will start on a tour scheduled with split second timing.

Reports say that Her Majesty has immense vitality. She will need it!

Luncheons, visits, official and otherwise, and dinners will fill her date book from the time she arrives aboard the Queen Elizabeth Oct. 26 until she waves goodbye on Nov. 18 from the rail of the Queen Mary.

Although her visit is listed as "private," Her Majesty will have a police escort around New York. She will go by motor to Wave Hill, a mansion once occupied by such assorted persons as Theodore Roosevelt, Mark Twain and Arturo Toscanini.

VIRGINIA HAM

It's now the residence of Sir Preston Dixon, Britain's permanent delegate to the United Nations, and Lady Dixon. While there she will dine on typically American food including Virginia Ham, and she can, if she's not on a diet, raid the refrigerator for a midnight snack. That's the plan of Lady Dixon who is playing hostess to royalty for the first time.

Her Majesty hasn't been to America since 1939 when she and the late King George VI were guests of the Franklin D. Roosevelts.

"I'm not exactly what you'd call nervous," said Lady Dixon. "You know how it is . . . you just hope everything goes all right. But our 13-year-old Corinna is in a tizzy."

"We've made few changes in the household routine," she said. "except that my family will move to guest rooms on the third floor so the Queen Mother and her party can have the second floor."

FIVE BEDROOMS

The second floor has five bedrooms and a small sitting room, the latter being set aside for the Queen Mother's private use.

"We haven't repainted anything," Lady Dixon added. "But we have dusted and cleaned everything a little more carefully, you know."

The Dixon residence, a three-story stone structure on a hill overlooking the Hudson River and Palisades, N.J., State Park, is in an exclusive section of suburban Riverdale. One resident said the neighborhood was so wealthy, "It's just like calling on Wall Street."

The 18-room house, which is rented furnished, is done handsomely in traditional manner. It is set in six or seven acres of rolling lawn and gardens.

One of its early occupants was Bashford Dean, an authority on medieval metal working.

He built an addition which the Dixons refer to as "The Gothic Hall."

NOTABLE DINNER

Dean used the 100-foot hall to display his collection of armor. Next week, it will be used as a dining room when the Dixons entertain the Queen Mother and half a hundred other notables at dinner.

The Queen Mother is bringing a staff of 12 with her—including her gentleman in waiting, a couple of ladies in waiting and her own hairdresser.

The guest list posed a bit of a housing problem for a while. "But," said Lady Dixon, "I just called up some of the neighbors. . . . Now we have room for everybody."

At Last, A Home In Georgia

By YOLANDE GWIN

"At last!" screamed Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cooke as they pulled up in front of a white-columned Colonial home in Roswell during an afternoon's drive about a year ago.

"Honey, I think we have found ourselves a home," said Mr. Cooke. "Now you won't be having to pack up and move all over the country. We'll settle here for now and always."

43 STATES

Mr. and Mrs. Cooke have been married 26 years and have lived in 43 states. Over a year ago when they moved to Roswell it was something like a dream come true. Everything about the town appealed to them. It was the end of a long journey, of a long series of moves.

"We felt that at last we could be settled," said Mrs. Cooke. "At last we could have a permanent home and bring all our furniture out of storage and live right! So he bought the house."

Mr. Cooke, who served as a colonel in World War II under Gen. Patton, is from Virginia and his wife is the former Ellen Gordon of Atlanta. Her father, Robert A. Gordon, was a local political figure in the twenties.

ANTIQUES

The Cooke home is filled with priceless antiques which Mrs. Cooke says "came from everybody in the family."

Green predominates as the color motif which forms an effective background for such drawing room pieces as rosewood love seats, a melodeon over a hundred years old and gold leaf mirrors.

"I haven't had much chance to have a home," said Mrs. Cooke. "and all my life I've wanted to have a station wagon with a name—and what better could I have now than 'At Last'?"

"People are always asking me why we named our place and lots of times when I'm waiting in line to park my car people come up and ask me what it means. One woman drove up beside me once and asked me to settle an argument. She said the passengers in her car were betting on whether the name on the car was Indonesian or Egyptian!"

"You should have seen her expression when I told her it was just plain Georgia!"

They Grow Them Young!

Now I'm not one of the worrying ones who habitually fret that today's children have too much of everything. As far as I'm concerned they can have as many cashmere sweaters and cultural advantages as they can get their greedy little paws on.

But I am getting astonished, if not actually concerned, at the vast numbers of cheerleaders who seem to be necessary to whoop up that old school spirit at today's athletic events.

Have you ever seen as many agile, iron-junged little girls in your life?

Every school in this neck of the woods seems to have more cheerleaders than team members. Girl cheerleaders, at that, leaping into the air with their full skirts swirling about them, pirouetting and dancing and writhing and moaning to work up their schoolmates to a suitable pitch of frenzied devotion.

Time was when the cheerleader was a skinny young man who wanted to be a football player but had rickets in his youth and had to content himself with wearing white flannel pants and a sweater with a megaphone back of the letter to show that he was almost—but not quite—as important as a halfback.

He was a pretty gifted young man, as I recall. He could do flips and back bends and flail the air with his hands and get a right lusty following when he embarked on "Fifteen Rah's" or the Alma Mater song. We looked to him to call out the yells and set the pace and we admired his agility and his poise. But nobody, at least nobody I ever knew, would have dreamed of trying to take his place.

Now cheerleading is a highly competitive thing. Young ladies who ought to be concerned with more modest and maidenly pursuits, stumble all over each other "going out" for cheerleader. It's not the top cheerleading post, of course. That's something you work up to by sheer grit and gymnastics.

But there are plenty of cheerleading posts in between—whole rafts of them. I thought I had heard everything when my middle child came home and announced that all of her friends were going out for the eighth-grade cheerleader squad. Then the next day the little one came home and announced with pride that she had made the sixth-grade cheering team. By now they probably have cheerleaders for the kindergarten, too, but I shudder to contemplate that. Just imagine living in the house with the piping treble of a 5-year-old cheerleader who chants in his sleep, in the bathtub and over his oatmeal about the prowess of his tiddly-winks team!

It's had enough to live with a brace of older daughters who shuffle through the house, snapping their fingers and bending and swaying in time to some inner music of their own about touchdowns and "our team."

Still school spirit is a fine thing and I'm glad to see it in the young. I just can't get over the way it takes whole battalions of cheerleaders to whoop it up these days. If I could just ferret it out there might be some profound sociological truth there somewhere.

LINING UP for lunch at Druid Hills Elementary School. Because of lack of space in the cafeteria, many rooms get hot plate lunches from a hospital cart. Mrs. Jack Downey, left, second grade teacher, favors the plan because "it gives us a chance to talk about foods and we can study health at the same time. Sometimes we listen to music during lunch. There have been some spills," she said, "but not many." In line are Mike Brookbank, Rachel Hartshorn, Linda Smithloff and Billy Bartlett.

Annie Lou Hardy Shipboard Romance Leads to the Altar

A storybook romance which had its inception last summer aboard the Caronia will culminate this evening when lovely Bennie Chambers becomes the bride of Anthony Wayne Snyder of Sea Cliff, Long Island, at a chapel service at St. Mark Methodist Church. The date marks the bride-elect's 18th birthday.

Bennie was on a North Cape cruise with her grandmother, Mrs. Howell Hanson, and her sister, Rena, while "Tony" was aboard with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Snyder. It was a case of love at first sight, according to Mrs. Hanson.

"After we landed on the continent they missed the bus everywhere we stopped," she laughed, "and had to follow in a car. And Bennie just did catch the boat train when we left Paris for LeHavre to come home."

As soon as she landed in New York, "Bunny," as the bride-elect is known, was whisked to the Snyder home on Long Island for a house party. It was there Tony gave her his great-grandmother's engagement ring, which he had had reset, to seal their betrothal.

Tony, his parents, his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. G. Morgan Browne, and Mr. and Mrs. Theodore S. Clark of New York arrived Thursday for the wedding and are at the Biltmore. Also arriving Thursday were Gary Heber, Tony's Princeton roommate; Kimball King of Princeton, Sheridan Grady Schneider of the University of Virginia and Mr. and Mrs. William Candler of Orlando.

Bunny will wear a Brussels lace bridal veil which Mrs. Hanson bought in Belgium in 1947. She will also wear a small emerald and diamond bowknot which her maternal grandfather, the late William Candler, presented to his bride.

Tony's mother has completely decorated and furnished a

Your Stars Today

DAILY GUIDE — The last planet to be discovered was named Pluto. It is too newly discovered for us to be sure of its significance, but it seems to influence mob action, violence and atomic energy.

We have been having an accent on this planetary influence so it hardly seems likely that this can be a time of peaceful events. But individually we can help by not allowing our own emotions to run riot, and not to break off relationships with others abruptly, nor be swayed by violence by the influence of the mob.

Today is a time for doing little jobs with patience. Don't make something big out of a small incident. Concentrate on details and keep steadily at them until they are cleared up. Beware of extension of credit or making false evaluations. Keep conservative.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, LIBRA! If you have kept your plans clearly in sight, and they have been practical ones, you ought to be able to take a deep breath now and get going on something constructive. The changes through which you have been recently could have solved some problems, but if you didn't have them or didn't solve your situation, you may have some difficulty in February.

Fourth of Chest Fund Donated But Time Gains on Gatherers

Atlanta Community Chest campaign workers reached the quarter mark Thursday in their race to bring in $1,833,545 for Red Feather agencies here by Nov. 12.

Gifts to the Chest to date total $456,689 or 25 per cent of the goal.

"But more than one-quarter of our campaign time has elapsed," campaign Co-chairman Edgar J. Foria reminded. "We'll have to work hard to bring in the rest of those Red Feather dollars by our Nov. 12 deadline!"

Atlantans this week have been visiting the agencies which benefit from Chest contributions. Atlanta Boys Club extended its original one-day open house program through Thursday after a record 1,000 persons visited the organization Wednesday.

Red Feather agencies are holding open house programs all this week. Friday's open house schedule follows:

Sheltering Arms Assn. of Day Nurseries, 89 Memorial Dr., SE, 2:30 to 4:30 p.m.; Atlanta Legal Aid Society, 10 a.m. to 12 noon and 2 to 4 p.m., short talks by attorneys explaining work of the society; Battle Hill Haven, 1821 West Anderson Ave., SW, 2 to 4 p.m., guided tour and short talk by board member.

Pressly Lists Conditional School Gift

Announcement of a conditional gift of $175,000 to the building fund of Westminster Schools will be made at the laying of the cornerstone of the latest Westminster Schools building project, the Junior School, at 5 p.m. Friday on the campus at 3210 Howell Mill Rd., NW.

Dr. Vernon S. Broyles Jr., chairman of the Westminster board of trustees, will preside at the ceremony, and several hundred friends of the school are expected to attend.

Dr. William L. Pressly, president, said the $175,000 donation will be made to the school provided another $255,000 is raised.

Dr. Pressly said a campaign to raise the funds will begin with a kick-off dinner Nov. 18.

Dr. Pressly said a total of $450,000 is needed for completion of a fourfold program: the $290,000 Junior School building; a $53,000 president's home which also will serve as a campus social center; a new entrance to the campus made necessary by the Expressway; and additional roads and parking areas made necessary by new buildings.

Ivan Allen Jr. will be general chairman of the campaign. Vice chairmen include: Mills B. Lane, Pollard Turman, W. D. Ellis, Mrs. Edward D. Smith and Mrs. James N. Frazer. Division leaders include: Philip Alston Jr., Jack Glenn, W. King Grant, McKee Nunnally, Mrs. C. Scott Akers, Mrs. W. Perry Ballard Jr., Mrs. Weiborn Cody, Mrs. H. English Robinson, Mrs. Julian Carr, Mrs. Walter Elcock III, Mrs. Mason Lowance, Mrs. William Rooker, Francis M. Bird, Inman Brandon, Alvin Cates Jr. and Alex P. Gaines.

F-Family

By PAUL JONES

A-Adult

"Rogue Cop," now showing at Loew's Grand Theater, is just what the title implies—a hard-hitting cops-'n'-robbers yarn which is similar to many you've seen on the screen in the past several years. What sets this one apart from the pack is good casting and slick-page story treatment, executed with finesse by MGM studios.

Three veterans—Robert Taylor, George Raft and Janet Leigh—and two comparatively new stars we expect to be seeing regularly at theatres—Anne Francis and Steve Forrest—compose the excellent cast which makes this fast paced action film move with swiftness and excitement.

Taylor plays ROBERT TAYLOR the part of a tough detective, quite a change of pace from the costume drama roles he's been playing. Forrest is excellent as the detective's brother whose death plays an important part in the story. Miss Leigh is good as the night club singer, gone right, and Anne Francis excels as a pretty girl who becomes involved with the wrong crowd. This is Raft's type picture, also.

Reviewer's rating: Very good drama. Adult classification.

"About Mrs. Leslie," now showing at the Paramount Theater, is what the film trade pleasantly refers to as "a woman's picture."

Shirley Booth, winner of the 1953 Academy Award for her role in "Come Back Little Sheba," has surrounded herself with the same acting team which helped her make "Sheba" a big favorite. This should assure a big turn-out at the box office despite the fact this film is quite different in theme.

The story deals with the unhappy married life of an aircraft manufacturer and a night club entertainer (Miss Booth). The story is told in flash back through the bittersweet recollections of Miss Booth who has become a boarding house proprietor in later life. Tearful sequences, reminiscent of "Stella Dallas," will provide the type entertainment the distaff fans seem to like.

Reviewer's rating: Tear-jerker. Adult classification.

More Exports Due To Boost Economy

NEW YORK, Oct. 21 (AP)—The next big step in the nation's economic development will be a broad increase in its foreign trade, Henry C. Alexander, president of J. P. Morgan & Co., declared today.

"The turn, I believe, is in the direction of greater world trade and investment," he said in an address prepared for delivery before the annual dinner of the New York group, Investment Bankers Assn. of America.

"I believe that it offers new and healthy opportunity for greater activity in our economy," Alexander said. U.S. exports have not been hampered by increased industrial production in other countries.

"This has not meant less trade for us," he declared. "Our exports to Europe have been increasing. Their economies have recently been helping to sustain ours."

Turning to the domestic scene, the Morgan executive said Americans should not put too much reliance on "the false hope that more and more money will carry us forward against all odds."

An overabundance of money, he said, "will find its outlet not in making jobs, not in making employment for the unemployed—it will find its outlet in inflation, in the non-productive shuttling of goods from one hand to another at higher and higher prices without adding to real wealth."

However, he declared, there should be no "serious misgivings" about the future of business in this country.

Coffee Prices Are Cut By 3 Chains in State

Coffee prices have dropped again—this time to less than $1 a pound—in at least three food store chains operating in Georgia.

Colonial Stores announced a price reduction of four cents a pound on its own brands and five cents a pound on national brands.

A&P said prices on its own brands are down four to six cents a pound, while Kroger also reported reductions ranging from four to six cents a pound.

The reductions, in line with a five-cent dip on the wholesale coffee market, will bring some brands down to 95 cents a pound and others down to 98 and 99 cents.

Cotton Quiet; Hedge Selling

NEW YORK, Oct. 21 (AP)—Cotton futures closed 30 cents a bale lower to 5 cents higher today.

Hedge selling and liquidation developed on a broad scale during the morning session, but with good trade support to absorb the offerings losses did not exceed 35 cents a bale. The market rallied moderately in the afternoon as short covering found a letup in offerings. However, trade selling again turned active toward the close and dropped prices back to near the lows for the session.

Most of the interest centered in the current crop months and continued to reflect hedging against the active movement of the new cotton crop. Pressure also stemmed from holders of unprotected cotton who belatedly decided to hedge it in futures, because of the slow but persistent decline in the market during the week.

Some commission house selling was credited to the disappointing rate of cotton consumption, leading to belief that government ideas on consumption for this season are too high.

New Orleans Cotton

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 21 (AP)—Cotton futures declined here Thursday under long liquidation and hedge selling. Closing prices were barely steady 5 cents to 35 cents a bale lower.

New Ford Thunderbird Is Being Shown Here

Ford's new Thunderbird, a sleek and powerful "personal car," will go on dealer display in Atlanta Friday with a suggested list price of $2,695.

The car, which industry commentators once called "Ford's answer to Chevrolet's Corvette," has an all-steel body, a V-8 engine and low silhouette. It measures four feet, 4.2 inches high in the hard-top model. The engine's power output was not announced.

The suggested list price includes four-way power seat, built-in dual exhaust, four-barrel carburetor, tachometer and electric clock.

The Thunderbird is powered by a Y-block V-8 engine of 292-cubic-inch displacement. In addition to the removable hardtop, it is available with a convertible soft top.

The new car normally seats two passengers, but the full width of a third passenger, according to L. D. Croose, general manager of the Ford division.

He said that although the Thunderbird has the ease of handling and performance characteristics of a sports car, it has many advantages of the conventional all-weather vehicle.

The Thunderbird will be displayed by the following dealers:

Ernest G. Beaudry, Inc., 143 Cone St. NW; Crest Motor Co., 3187 Peachtree Rd. NE; Hub Motor Co., 450 Peachtree St. NE; Main St., East Point; Johnson Ford Sales, 126 West Court St.; Stewart Universal Motors, 3419 Mountain Ave., Hapeville, and Stone Mountain Motor Co., Stone Mountain.

Actors Must Act Way to Success

NEW YORK, Oct. 21—In the Broadway legitimize theaters, programs run to 26 pages, of which six or less are devoted to the scenes, acts and personalities in the play. The rest of the program is a gold mine of swank advertisements: autos, whistles, cosmetics, hotels, m.e.s. clothes, neckties, jewelry and cigarettes.

In the downtown theaters, such off-Broadway arenas as the Theatre de Lys, the programs run to eight skimpier pages, of which six concern themselves with the play and the cast. The other pages offer modest little neighborhood ads, luncheonettes, restaurants, a drugstore, a Greenwich Village shop specializing in Christmas cards, jewelry and ceramics and another little shop that creates "perspective framing."

There are other differences between the uptown programs and the downtown programs. The Broadway theaters, under "who's who in the cast," for instance, recite that Percy Warram, playing the part of Lucas Edgerton in "Reclining Figure," played opposite Rex Harrison in "Anne of a Thousand Days," partnered such redoubtable stars as Florence Reed, Jane Cowl, Grace Moore, Maurice Evans and Tallulah Bankhead. The uptown programs point out that Robert Preston, in "The Tender Trap," played opposite Barbara Stanwyck in DeMille's "Union Pacific" and replaced Jose Ferrer in "The Male Animal." In the same "Who's who in the cast," Kim Hunter was recalled as Stella in "A Streetcar Named Desire" and played opposite Raymond Massey and David Niven in "Stairway to Heaven."

The program for the Theatre de Lys, downtown, also has its "who's who in the cast" but the claims are much more modest. The youngsters in Jerry Herman's "I Feel Wonderful" have no such impressive backgrounds. You read that Phyllis Newman, one of the leads, "at the age of four sang on the stage of Loew's State Theatre with Belle Baker." Rita Tanno, it is recorded, was an understudy in the revival of "Pal Joey" and "Dance at the Copacabana." Comedienne Albie Gaye made her pro debut with a USO unit. John Barish signed with the ensemble in "Inside USA." Tom Mixon danced in the St. Louis Muni opera chorus. Nina Dova had her own TV show in Canada, and Jerry Herman, who did the music and lyrics, is a 23-year-old grad of U. of Miami.

But the talented kids appearing on the little stage of the Theatre de Lys, on Greenwich Village's Christopher St., have no inferiority complex. They know that the uptown stars started in the theater in much the same manner. There are no short cuts for the apprentice. He can only learn his trade by working at it, in front of audiences. ## Jack Carson To Star in Own Show Comedian-character actor Jack Carson will star on his own video program, the Jack Carson Show, starting on WSB-TV at 8 p.m. He will be seen every fourth Friday in the timespot occupied the other three weeks by Red Buttons.

Carson's first guest will be Claire Trevor.

There will be no set format for Carson's show which will vary from week to week with a storyline especially tailored to showcase the guest star. In general, however, the sketches will be situation comedy in which Jack will play himself rather than a fictional character.

The skit with Miss Trevor (whose latest movie is "The High and the Mighty") will satirize some of the season's major video shows.

A longtime film headliner, Carson entered TV in 1950 as one of the alternate stars of the NBC

Visored Cap Is Clue On TV's 'Big Story'

A visored cap proves the vital clue in solving the "Case of the Killer on Wheels" on Big Story at 9 p.m. on WSB-TV.

This is the case in which Ed Gottleib, city editor of the Long Island (N.Y.) Daily Press, drew a parallel between evidence in a current killing and similar evidence in a story he had covered as a reporter. With this pattern, Gottleib was able to identify the killer. Robert Ellenstein will portray the city editor.

"All-Star Revue" and has played in many major video productions since then, both live and filmed. He likes this once-in-four-weeks schedule because it leaves time for movie and radio engagements.

PSC Weighing Man o' War Cut

Whether to allow elimination of one daily run of the Man o' War, Central of Georgia Railroad's Atlanta-Columbus streamliner, rested in the hands of the Public Service Commission Wednesday following a spirited hearing over whether the railroad would be permitted to cancel two of the train's four daily runs.

More than a hundred persons from a sprinkling of small Georgia cities appeared to protest the proposed removal of one morning and one evening run between the two cities.

Representatives of the railroad told the commission that the train doesn't carry enough passengers to support itself, producing figures which showed that in the year ending Aug. 31, 1954, the company lost $36,095 on the operation.

This, they said, was worse than the previous year when they only lost $35,375.

People who appeared to protest the proposed cancellation protested that while the company lost money on the passenger trains, it had made considerable profit from freight operations along the same line and maintained that the railroad "has a moral obligation to continue the service."

Talmadge Speaks at State Fair

MACON, Oct. 21 (AP)—Gov. Herman Talmadge visited the Georgia State Fair here Thursday and took the opportunity to put in another appeal for passage of the so-called private school amendment.

Tagging amendment No. 4 as an "insurance policy against a fire," the governor said Georgians have two alternatives: "To pass the private school amendment or to have public schools abolished."

Talmadge told the large audience attending the fair's governor's day program that he was opposed to mixing the races in Georgia schools in "any shape, form or fashion."

The fair also observed Georgia Exchange Club and Exchanges from all over the state attended. Talmadge praised the club for sponsoring the fair, stating the annual event has fostered interest in livestock, poultry and dairying industries of the state.

A barbecue and reception was held for Exchanges from Atlanta, Augusta, Decatur, Eatonton, Forsyth, Jackson, Swainsboro and Tifton. Douglas Hudson was chairman of the governor's day and Macon Circuit Judge A. M. Anderson introduced Talmadge.

Judging was held during the day in poultry and Hereford shows and several other divisions.

Ulysses Banks of Dublin entered the grand champion in the Negro 4-H division.

Among the winners in the Georgia State Polled Hereford show were:

Champion and reserve champion bull: Circle A Ranch of Sandersville, champion bull; Magnolia Polled Hereford Farm, Ft. Valley, reserve champion; Circle A Ranch, champion female, and Green Acre Ranch, Atlanta, reserve female champion.

Emory Frosh Battle Today To Lose Caps

Accent will be on push Friday at Emory University.

Freshmen will be trying to lose their rat caps and referees in the university's traditional pushball game will be trying to keep from losing their pants.

Sophomores and freshmen will meet on the lower athletic field at 3 p.m. in the annual Battle of the Ball. If the frosh win they'll be able to throw away their rat caps and other sophomore restrictions imposed upon them as a part of initiation. If they lose, they'll keep the rat caps and restrictions until the Christmas holidays.

The huge ball, six feet in diameter, will get the squeeze from 25 huskies on each team. It will be placed in the center of a 100-yard long field. The teams will line up on the 20-yard line. A whistle. Then... PUSH!

Asked or Not, Ike's Photos Arrive Here

A White House official said Thursday that pictures of President Eisenhower are being sent to federal government offices all over the country as a result of "thousands of requests."

Nobody in Atlanta seemed to remember anything about any requests, but a number of the photographs—showing America's most famous golfer in one of his favorite "desk" poses—have already been received and distributed here.

H. E. Harman Jr., of the U.S. General Service offices here, said about 35 or 50 pictures, 17 by 24 inches in black and white, were received for distribution by his office in the early summer.

With hundreds of government offices in Atlanta, that number didn't go around. A spot check of several offices revealed that many agency heads here knew nothing about the photographs or a request for any.

USDA Predicts Moderate Lower Prices Next Year

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21 (AP)—The Agriculture Department predicted today that farm prices will average "moderately lower" next year.

In a cautiously worded "outlook" report, the department said farm production expenses also may show a "slight decline" so farmers' net income in 1955 "should approach that of 1954."

It said further reductions in wheat and cotton acreage under surplus-reducing crop controls should total farm cash receipts "somewhat under" this year's estimated $30,200,000,000.

This year's cash receipt estimate is down 4 per cent from 1953 and includes a 2 per cent decline in livestock returns and a 6 per cent decline in field crop receipts.

The report estimated 1954 net income—money left after production costs are paid—at $12,500,000,000, 6 per cent below last year.

Hip-Fracture Mortalities Slashed, Dr. Reith Reports

The mortality rate among older patients with hip fractures has been "reduced remarkably" in recent years by new methods of treatment and surgery, Dr. Paul Reith, Atlanta orthopedic surgeon, said here Thursday.

Dr. Reith, who addressed the Georgia Academy of General Practice at the Biltmore Hotel, said the death rate formerly was about 50 per cent in older patients. Today, he said, the immediate mortality rate is less than 5 per cent.

He attributed the reduction to:

1. Use of intramedullary rods (metal pins).
2. Better anesthesia.
3. Antibiotics which prevent infections.
4. Anti-coagulant drugs which prevent fatal lung blood clots.
5. Blood transfusions.

Dr. J. Edwin Wood Jr. of Charlottesville, Va., who is with the Department of Internal Medicine at the University of Virginia, warned against the excessive use of diuretics—drugs used to help eliminate water in certain heart patients.

About 150 general practitioners attended the sixth annual session of the Georgia Academy. Dr. George H. Alexander of Forsyth was installed president.

Argentine City Puts Straw on the Horse

ROSARIO, Argentina, Oct. 21.—Horses in the city streets must be provided with hats during the approaching summer months, the Association for the Protection of Animals warned today.

The association issued a reminder that an ordinance of this second largest city in Argentina requires horses to have headpieces to ward off the summer sun.

"No more bridge dates. We didn't even win enough to pay the sinner!"

Council Fails To Act on 'Two Mayors'

FT. VALLEY, Oct. 21.—The big question in the minds of many local residents—will Marion Allen take over as mayor?—remained unanswered Thursday night when city aldermen met but failed to take up the matter.

Thursday being the mayor-elect's 25th birthday, thus removing the age hurdle that prevented Allen from taking office last spring, it had been anticipated that city council might hand down a decision at its regularly scheduled meeting tonight. However, no action was forthcoming. Mayor Pro Tem Den Gillespie said after the session no mention was made of Allen, and that routine business was discussed, he said.

Allen did not attend and could not be reached immediately for a statement.

Mayor D. Warner Wells, who

Truck Rams Bomber But on the Ground

MIDDLESBORO, Ky., Oct. 21.—The man walked into police headquarters here today and reported a truck had just collided with an Air Force B-29 in downtown Middlesboro.

Seems a pickup truck had struck a corner and crashed into the back of an Air Force truck carrying the bomber to Greenville, S.C., where it was to be displayed.

But the police were worried for a minute.

Deputy Says Fulton Paying Upkeep of State Prisoners

Officials of the Fulton County sheriff's office told the Fulton Budget Commission Thursday that the county often is having to pay for the upkeep of prisoners committed by the courts to state penal institutions without reimbursement.

Chief Deputy Sheriff T. R. Grimes told the commission that some "short-term" prisoners with sentences as short as 90 days often spend their entire sentences at Fulton Tower without ever being transferred to state penal institutions.

Grimes declared that on several occasions the sheriff's office has loaded its prisoner transfer vehicle with prisoners and ferried them to the State Prison at Reidsville after the state failed to transfer them.

At present, he added, there are up to 150 prisoners on hand at the county jail awaiting transfer to state prisons. He said the jail is near capacity now with 519 prisoners and that state prisoners have to be moved out rapidly to prevent overcrowding.

Budenz Speech To Be Oct. 31

Louis Francis Budenz, Catholic author and lecturer who started the free world in 1945 when he dropped his affiliation with the Communist party and resigned as managing editor of the Daily Worker to return to the church, will speak at Sacred Heart Auditorium at 8 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 31.

His subject will be "Communist Strategy for 1955." The auditorium is at 310 Courtland St., N.E.

It was erroneously reported Wednesday that Budenz would speak this Sunday. The Notre Dame Book Shop, sponsor of the lecture, pointed out that the talk will be one week from Sunday instead.

Fines Total $2,350 in 11 Bet Cases

Eleven of 20 men arrested here June 11 at Ponce de Leon Park for betting during a baseball game were fined between $100 and $1,000 Thursday in Fulton Criminal Court. The fines totaled $2,350.

The fines were assessed by Judge Luther Alverson who also gave each man a jail sentence of six months to be suspended upon payment of the fine and upon condition that he not violate the law again.

Cases against six others of the 20 were postponed because of the absence of defense attorneys. The court also "dead docketed" cases against two men due to lack of evidence.

Most of the 11 who appeared in court Thursday were allowed to pay their fines through the county's probation office. All were charged with making wagers on the occurrence or nonoccurrence of events in connection with a baseball game.

Highest fine assessed was against Rufus T. Tarragano, 46, of 378 Boulevard, NE, who was fined $500 and six months suspended on each of two lottery counts. J. H. Morgan, 34, of 419 Tifton St., NW, was fined $600 and six months suspended on the second count of a two-count accusation.

Others fined were: Joe Troncelli, 48, of 19 Krog St., NE, $150; F. H. Lewis, 49, of a downtown hotel, $150; Ed Smallwood, 46, of 2352 Lakewood Ave., SE, $100; Tom H. Brown, 50, of 859 Capitol Ave., SW, $100; James Singer, 40, of 401 Oglethorpe Ave., College Park, $150; C. C. Pittman, 40, of 837 Hollywood Rd., NW, $250; Widson Mullinax, 37, of Marietta, $100; Roy A. Johnson, 35, of 283 Iswald St., SE, $100; and Robert C. Burrell, 38, of 431 Poole Creek Rd., Hapeville, $150.

Canadian's 'Missing' Pal Went Home

A story and picture in the newspapers turned the trick.

The mystery developed when Alan Cruickshank, 20, of Vancouver, B.C., appealed to police for aid in locating a buddy, Andy Molnar, 20, of New Westminster, B.C.

Cruickshank said the two arrived here Oct. 14 after a 12,000-mile trip through Canada, Nova Scotia and the United States. He said they parked on Ponce de Leon Ave., NE, and that Molnar walked off to get something to eat. He remained with the car.

Meanwhile station Capt. Reggie McLean noticed Molnar's newspaper picture Thursday. He recognized the Canadian as being the man who walked into police headquarters a week ago and asked for a place to spend the night. Capt. McLean explained Molnar returned home several days later.

Informed that his "missing" companion had gone home, Cruickshank expressed complete surprise. He cranked up the yellow convertible in which he had kept lonely vigil for a week and with a wry smile remarked: "It'll be a long, lonesome drive to Canada."

13 More Seized In Moonshine Roundup Here

Continuing arrests by anti-moonshine crusading law enforcement officers Thursday had netted 24 of 27 persons for whom bench warrants charging illicit whiskey transactions were issued Monday in Fulton Criminal Court.

Agents of the Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Unit of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service, investigators for Fulton Sol. John I. Kelley and a representative of the Anti-Moonshine League reported 13 new arrests Thursday and revealed another suspect had been arrested Tuesday.

The agents made the arrests on the strength of information provided by federal revenue agents and the Anti-Moonshine League, an organization formed here by the state's liquor industry to combat bootleggers.

TWINS DISCUSS TWIN SURGERY—Calvin, left, and Alvin Alford, 25-year-old Atlanta twins, talk about their identical operations performed at the same time at Atlanta Veterans Administration Hospital. The twin veterans had duodenal ulcers and both were admitted to the hospital as emergency cases. They underwent hemigastrectomies—removal of half of their stomachs—Monday and were in "satisfactory" condition Thursday. Alvin lives at 1191 Avondale Ave., SE, and Calvin lives at 1198 Eddie Ave., SE.

Spalding Says Hospital Possible If Board-Run

Chairman Hughes Spalding of the Fulton-DeKalb Hospital Authority indicated Thursday he believed a hospital could be built and maintained in south Fulton County only if it was staffed and operated by his organization.

His opinion was shared by two other members of a committee set up by the Board of County Commissioners to make an exhaustive study of hospital needs in the south end of the county. They were Commission Chairman Archie Lindsey and County Atty. Harold Sheats.

But Spalding and Frank Wilson, superintendent of Grady Hospital, said they believed such a hospital could not be built until the present addition to Grady is completed and operating smoothly.

They estimated this would take two and one-half to three years. The Rev. John Summer, executive secretary of the South Fulton Cities Hospital Authority, declared, however, his organization would not agree to allowing the Fulton-DeKalb authority to operate the hospital.

His organization, he said, wants a hospital in south Fulton now and feels it has waited long enough. He said that if the Fulton-DeKalb group make a definite agreement with his organization to build the hospital soon, the South Fulton group will step out of the way.

All members of the committee agreed that a hospital is needed in the area but disagreed with the Rev. Mr. Summer that such a hospital could be staffed and operated if it were built now.

County Manager A. E. Fuller and County Atty. Harold Sheats, also members of the committee, pointed out that the only way money from the present six-mill hospital levy could be channeled into a south Fulton hospital would be for it to be operated by the Fulton-DeKalb authority.

Aldermen Ralph Huie and Jesse Draper, members of the group, said the session set for 2 p.m. will be deferred until Ald. Ed A. Gilliam, committee chairman, returns from a honeymoon in Havana.

CARAMEL APPLES WITH PARTY TOPPINGS AWAIT TRICKSTERS ON GOBLINS NIGHT TO HOWL

FINISH HALLOWEEN FUN WITH APPLE TREATS LIKE CRUMB CAKE, MOLDED SALAD, PINK CINNAMON SAUCE

Halloween Treats Take Little Trickery

By JEANNE HIGGINS
Constitution Food Editor

What better fate for the tempting apple than to land in the party limelight on Halloween eve! And that it does with the slightest of hand.

Caramel apples topped to order with nuts, coconut or crushed peppermint candy fulfill the pranksters' requests. And an array of apple delicacies is just the right party inspiration on the goblins' night to howl.

CARAMEL APPLES

- |                         |                         |
|-------------------------|-------------------------|
| 6 medium red apples     | 2 tablespoons butter or |
| 1 cup sugar             | margarine               |
| 3/4 cup dark corn syrup | 1 cup light cream       |
|                         | 1 teaspoon vanilla      |

Stick wooden skewers into stem end of apples. Combine sugar, corn syrup, butter, and 1/2 cup cream. Cook over low heat until sugar dissolves and mixture comes to a full boil. Add remaining 1/2 cup cream. Cook to very hard-ball stage (254 degrees) without stirring. Remove from heat; add vanilla.

Dip apples into syrup. (Work fast). Roll in desired topping.

JELLIED WALDORF SALAD

- |                           |                              |
|---------------------------|------------------------------|
| 2 packages lemon-flavored | 3 cups unpeeled red apples,  |
| gelatin                   | diced                        |
| 1/2 teaspoon salt         | 1/2 cup coarsely chopped     |
| 2 cups hot water          | walnuts                      |
| 2 cups cold water         | 1 cup diced celery, seasoned |
| 4 teaspoons vinegar       | with 1/2 teaspoon salt       |

Unpeeled apple slices

Dissolve gelatin and salt in hot water. Add cold water and vinegar. Pour a little of the gelatin into a 2-quart fluted mold. Chill until almost firm. Arrange apple slices upright in mold. Chill remaining gelatin until slightly thickened. Then fold in apples, walnuts and celery. Pour into mold. Chill until firm. Unmold on crisp lettuce. Serve with mayonnaise and balls of cream cheese, if desired. Makes 10 to 12 servings.

CREAMY TAPIOCA WITH PINK APPLESAUCE

- |                          |                             |
|--------------------------|-----------------------------|
| 1 egg white              | 1/2 teaspoon salt           |
| 2 tablespoons sugar      | 3 tablespoons quick-cooking |
| 1 egg yolk               | tapioca                     |
| 2 cups milk              | 1/2 teaspoon vanilla        |
| 2 or 3 tablespoons sugar | Pink Applesauce             |

Beat egg white until foamy throughout; add 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 tablespoon at a time, and continue beating with rotary beater until mixture will stand in soft peaks. Set aside.

Mix egg yolk with about 1/4 cup of the milk in saucepan. Add 2 or 3 tablespoons sugar, salt, quick-cooking tapioca and remaining milk. Place over medium heat. Cook until mixture comes to a boil, stirring constantly—this takes 5 to 8 minutes.

Four small amount of hot tapioca mixture gradually on beaten egg white, blending well. Then quickly add the remaining mixture, stirring constantly. (The hotter the tapioca and the faster it is blended in, the thicker and fluffier the pudding will be.) Add vanilla. Cool, stirring once after 15 to 20 minutes. Chill.

Halloween Doughnuts Need Lemon Butter Frosting

What is Halloween without a party for the youngsters? Half the fun is their dressing up as ghosts and goblins; the other half is eating doughnuts with cider and ducking for apples.

To give your Halloween doughnuts a festive air dress them up to fit the day. Cover doughnuts with a luscious Lemon Butter Frosting made with sweetened condensed milk. Then add such gay touches as colored shredded coconut, multi-colored sprinkles and chopped nuts. If you want to give the doughnuts a rakish air, make eyes and teeth with red cinnamon drops and then stick a maraschino cherry into the hole for a round red shiny nose. The frosting is so easy even the kiddies can make it. Just by mixing together butter, sweetened condensed milk, lemon juice and rind and confectioners' sugar. It is a creamy smooth frosting that is very easy to spread on the doughnuts and lends itself to all sorts of decoration.

LEMON BUTTER FROSTING
4 tablespoons butter
2/3 cup (1/2 15-oz. can) sweetened condensed milk
1 1/2 teaspoons grated lemon rind
3/4 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
1 to 2 tablespoons lemon juice
1. Cream butter. Gradually

HALLOWEEN SWEETS
Decorated Doughnuts

stir in 1/4 cup sweetened condensed milk. Add lemon rind, mixing well. 2. Add sugar gradually alternating with remaining sweetened condensed milk, beating until smooth. 3. Add 1 to 2 tablespoons lemon juice and beat well. Spread on doughnuts.

Clam Patties, an Idea For Friday Suppers

Clam patties are delicious for Friday night supper. Mix canned minced clams with a beaten egg and cracker crumbs; add a little of the clam liquid, so the patties will hold together, and a little grated onion for seasoning. Fry in patty-shape in deep fat and serve with catchup or chili sauce, baked potatoes and a green salad.

Something new for breakfast

How about the times when you can't look fried eggs in the eye, and even one scrambled looks like the whole farm surplus... when you shudder at the thought of cold cereal... wouldn't soup be just the thing? It's got warmth, substance, flavor—but read all about it in November Better Homes & Gardens. You'll know why it's wise, fun, and proper to have soup for breakfast. Get November Better Homes & Gardens today wherever magazines are sold!

Tidbit Treats Furnish

These tidbits taste extra-special along with tomato juice for a first course. Make up a package of pie mix and roll into a square about 1/4-inch thick.

'Zing' to Tomato Juice

Cut into 2-inch squares, fill with deviled ham or grated cheddar cheese, pinch together and bake in a hot oven until golden-brown.

Macaroni Casserole

A favorite in most homes is a casserole of macaroni and cheese. To pep it up, add a topping of toast cubes dipped in garlic-flavored butter.

NEW FISHSTICK TREAT TAKES THE "FRY" OUT OF FRIDAY!

New Golden Ready-Fried Fishsticks make a delicious main dish for dinner, or an equally delicious platter for late evening party snacks. You'll find the "Fish-stick Sandwich" is a real taste surprise, too. Any way you serve them is easy. For you just heat and eat!

CHILDREN'S PLATES NEVER BEFORE CLEANED SO FAST

No "dawdling," mothers find, when new golden-fried "fish-sticks" are served.

Local mothers aren't sure yet exactly what it is about the new 4-Fishermen Golden-Fried Fish-sticks that youngsters find so exciting. But whatever it is certainly makes "junior's" fork busier than a windmill.
One reason may be the novel shape of the "sticks." Or perhaps it's the delicate flavor or the firm, meaty goodness of this crispy treat. Actually, there are lots of reasons for "small fry"

A LUNCHEON DISH FOR FALL
Chicken Pie With Cheese Topping

A Luncheon Dish Idea Is Cheese-Topped Pie

Are you thinking about some of the luncheons that are coming along now that the summer is over and friends get together for work and fun?

You want to plan a substantial, but not-too-heavy, luncheon dish and yet one that is a quickie to make. A cheese-topped chicken pie is just right as the main course for a luncheon. Add a small tart fruit salad, hot buttered rolls and milk—there's a well-balanced menu.

It's a wise menu-planner who always has cheese in the refrigerator—it "fits in" from snacks to dessert. With cheese and a few foods that can be kept on the cupboard shelf, this is an excellent "emergency" casserole for unexpected guests.

In preparing the casserole, first cover the bottom of a pie dish generously with cooked puffy rice, add chopped chicken, cover with diluted cream of celery soup and top with cheese.

The shredded sharp cheddar cheese spread generously over the top gives the whole dish a zippy flavor as it melts through the rice. Cheese is a versatile food that lends additional interest to casseroles and enlivens vegetable dishes for flavor variety.

CHEESE-TOPPED CHICKEN PIE

- 3 cups cooked rice
  - 1 cup diced cooked chicken or turkey
  - 2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
  - 1 can condensed cream of celery or cream of mushroom soup
  - 1/2 cup milk
  - 1 cup shredded sharp cheddar cheese
  - Paprika
1. Cook and drain rice. 2. Spread on bottom of a 10-inch pie plate. 3. Cover with diced chicken or turkey. 4. Mix pimiento, cream soup, and milk and pour over the chicken. 5. Top with shredded cheese and sprinkle with paprika. 6. Bake in a 350 degree oven for 30 minutes.

Economical, Cucumber Salad Idea

This delightful salad combines the crispness of cucumbers and green peppers, the tartness of lemon and lime, the accent of onion juice, and the fluffy smoothness of whipped nonfat dry milk solids.

It is one of those gems easily and quickly made early in the morning or in advance of a busy day. Economical, it serves eight generously. Refreshing at any time of the year, it is a delicious complement for fish or meat.

Cool as a Cucumber
1 package lime-flavored gelatin
1 cup boiling water

PARTY SALAD
Cool as a Cucumber

- 1/2 cup lemon juice
- 1/2 cup cold water
- 1/2 cup nonfat dry milk solids

- 1/2 cup chopped green pepper
- 2 cups chopped cucumber
- 1 teaspoon onion juice
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup mayonnaise

1. Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. 2. Add lemon juice and cool until slightly thickened. Place cold water in a chilled bowl. 3. Add nonfat dry milk solids and beat until very stiff. Add thickened gelatin. 4. Beat until fluffy. Fold in chopped vegetables, onion juice, salt and mayonnaise. Mix well. 5. Turn into an oiled 1-quart mold or 8 individual molds. Chill until firm. 6. When ready to serve, unmold on a bed of watercress or other greens. Serve with French dressing.

Delicious Dessert Idea

That's Easy To Make

For a simple, but delicious dessert, serve chilled pineapple slices drenched in this fruity-wine sauce: Combine a table-spoon cornstarch, 1/2 teaspoon sugar and a dash of salt. Add 1/2 cup of pineapple juice, stirring until smooth. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly until thick and clear. Add 1 1/2 teaspoons lemon juice and 1 cup of Port wine. Bring to the boiling point. Makes 1 1/2 cups of sauce.

Fish Fillet Reminder

Don't forget that chopped parsley or pimiento added to melted butter is wonderful for broiled fish fillets.

It's Not Too Early

It isn't too early to begin getting your supply of candied and dried fruits, dates, raisins, walnuts and almonds on hand for holiday fruit cakes and puddings. Your fruit cakes will taste better and cut easier if they have four to six weeks to age and ripen.

Cottage Cheese For Good Salads

Cottage cheese is ideal for salads. Here are some combinations that are good: tomatoes stuffed with cottage cheese and celery mixture; pineapple slices, canned pears, peaches, plums, apricots—any of these are perfect with cottage cheese because of flavor and color contrast. Serve cottage cheese with jellied fruit or vegetable salads. Cottage cheese is so good when used in shredded cabbage, carrots and onion slaw. Many dried or fresh fruits can be stuffed with cottage cheese.

Paella—a Latin-American Menu To Suit Everyone

Paella, a Latin American dish of Spanish origin, is a combination of rice, seafood and chicken. It was served at the recent food editors conference, made by this recipe. We thought you would like to try it.

PAELLA

Cover a four-pound chicken with boiling water. Add a small onion, a stalk of celery, a few springs of parsley and 2 tablespoons salt. Cover and simmer until tender, about two hours. Remove chicken from broth and cut into fork-size pieces. Heat 4 tablespoons salad oil in a paellera pan, a large skillet or a shallow casserole which allows top-stove cooking. Add 2 cloves garlic, crushed, and 2 cups uncooked rice. Cook over low heat until rice is browned. Add 4 cups chicken broth,  $\frac{1}{4}$  teaspoon saffron, crushed;  $\frac{1}{2}$  teaspoon oregano,  $\frac{1}{4}$  teaspoon pepper, 2 teaspoons salt, the cut chicken, 1 package frozen peas or the same amount of fresh peas,  $\frac{1}{4}$  cup pimientos, cut into medium-size pieces, and  $\frac{1}{2}$  pound sweet Italian sausage, sliced thin. Cover and cook over low heat 15 minutes. Add  $1\frac{1}{2}$  pounds peeled and deveined raw shrimp. Mix lightly. Insert 1 dozen well-scrubbed mussels or little-neck clams part way into the rice, standing them upright. When cooked, the shells pop open to form a decorative pattern. Cover and cook 10 minutes. Sausage may be omitted, if desired. Makes 12 servings.

A paellera pan is a round shallow steel pan designed especially for paella. These pans, imported from Spain, come in several sizes, ranging from 9 $\frac{1}{2}$  to 24 $\frac{1}{2}$  inches in diameter.

Hot Stuff Beans for Your Teens

Hot stuff beans are good for a teenagers Saturday night session. And they're easy for you, because you can put the large dry limas on to cook and forget 'em. They simmer along two or three hours, picking up more flavor all the time from the onions, garlic, cumin seed and bacon drippings.

When the gang comes in after the game they can help themselves right from the bean pot. Some well-chilled canned cling peach halves and sugar cookies would make a good dessert to go with this dish.

HOT STUFF BEANS

1 pound dry limas
6 cups water
2 chopped onions

New Idea for Carrots

Here's a way to vary the usual combination of peas and carrots: Add a dash of curry powder to them, after they are cooked and drained, as well as butter or margarine, salt and pepper.

1 minced clove garlic
2 teaspoons crushed cumin seed
 $\frac{1}{4}$  cup bacon drippings
2 teaspoons salt
2 tablespoons chili powder
 $\frac{1}{4}$  cup butter or margarine
1 cup shredded sharp American cheese
1. Rinse limas, add water and soak several hours or overnight.
2. Add onions, garlic, cumin seed, bacon drippings and salt, and boil very slowly until beans are very soft and liquid is thick, two to three hours.
3. Add chili powder, butter and cheese, and stir over low heat until sauce is consistency of thick cream.
Makes 6 to 8 generous servings.

ANSWER TO DARING TRICK OR TREAT CRIES
Festive Frosted Cookies Filled With Mince Meat

Molly Mixit

Halloween Night Is Time For Mincemeat Cookies

When children ring the doorbell shouting "Trick or Treat!" Molly will have a supply of Halloween Mince Meat Cookies to win their favor.

These cookies are easy to make. They have good keeping quality, too, so they can be made a day or two ahead of time if that is convenient.

You can give the cookies an appropriate face if you decorate them with frosting jack-o'-lanterns. Make thick frosting of confectioner's sugar moistened with milk or water. Spread a little of it on the cookies, flattening it into the shape of pumpkins, with a little twist at the top for a handle. When the frosting has dried, put on triangular eyes, nose and mouth, as much like those that the children cut in pumpkins as you can, with either melted chocolate or food coloring applied with a clean water-color paint brush.

CONSTIPATED?

"I found just what I needed!"
says Mrs. J. H. Evans, Coosa, Ga.

"I had to let a lot of things go around the farm because I just couldn't tend to them when I'd become constipated."

"Then, one lucky day, I heard about Sal Hepatica from a neighbor. I took it the next time I had that lousy feeling from being constipated—and I got speedy, gentle relief.
I found just what I needed."

Yes, take sparkling Sal Hepatica before breakfast and feel fine again... usually within an hour. Or take it in the evening 1/2 hour before supper and feel fine again by bedtime! Sweetens sour stomach, too! So keep Sal Hepatica handy in your medicine chest.

Your Pork Chops Deserve To Be Cooked Properly

Pork chops to be at their delicious best should be cooked slowly by braising. It's only by slow and thorough cooking that you get the real benefit of the full rich flavor of pork.

Here's an interesting recipe that practices what we preach—the chops are prepared with golden pineapple slices and cooked slowly.

BARBECUED CHOPS WITH PINEAPPLE

4 pork chops
¾ cup chili sauce
3 tablespoons lemon juice
1½ tablespoons brown sugar
1 tablespoon grated onion
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
½ teaspoon each salt and Worcestershire
¾ teaspoon chili powder
¾ cup water
4 slices of pineapple

1. Brown pork chops on both sides. 2. Combine chili sauce, lemon juice, brown sugar, mustard, salt, Worcestershire, grated onion, and water and pour over chops. 3. Cover closely and cook over very low heat 45 minutes to an hour or until tender. Turn once during cooking. 4. Place pineapple slices around chops; spoon some of the sauce over them. Cover and cook 5 minutes longer. 5.

HAM AND FRUIT GRILL

1 thick slice ham, to serve 4
4 slices of pineapple, drained
2 firm bananas, cut in half lengthwise

Melted butter or margarine

1. Slash edge of ham at 2-inch intervals to prevent curling. 2. Place ham on broiler rack; broil about 6 inches from heat for 6 to 7 minutes, or until lightly browned. Turn ham. 3. Brush fruit with melted butter. 4. Return to broiler and continue broiling for 5 to 6 minutes longer until fruit is cooked and ham sizzling hot. Makes 4 servings.

FESTIVE SALAD TO USE LAST MELONS OF THE SEASON
Nuts and Grapes Blend With Melon in Tart Lemon Gelatin

Melon Lovers Will Love This

Here's a suggestion for you melon lovers who would like to extract the last bit of delicious enjoyment from the late varieties which will be with us through the early months of autumn.

Cut the big melons fresh for breakfast or for the opener or finale of the evening meal. Chances are you'll have one generous slice to spare. It will be quite enough to provide a cup of diced Honeydew or Persian goodness to combine with a cup of seedless grapes and a frill of walnuts for one of the stars in the new collection of Fall Fruits Souffle Salads. A culinary tip: The fruity touch of a side salad made as follows provides the perfect accompaniment to a substantial cool-weather main dish, whether or not you follow with a dessert sweet.

MELON GRAPE SOUFFLE SALAD

1 pkg. lemon flavored gelatin
1 cup hot water
½ cup cold water
½ cup real mayonnaise
2 teaspoons lemon juice
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup diced melon
1 cup seedless grapes, halved ½ cup chopped walnuts
Maraschino cherries, quartered

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add cold water, real mayonnaise, lemon juice and salt. Blend with rotary beater. Pour into refrigerator freezing tray. Quick-chill in freezing unit (without changing control) 15 to 20 minutes or until firm about 1 inch from edge but soft

In center. Arrange chopped walnuts and maraschino cherry pieces in bottom of six individual molds. Turn chilled mixture into bowl and whip with rotary beater until fluffy. Fold in diced melon and grapes. Spoon into molds on top of nuts and cherries. Chill until firm in refrigerator (not freezing unit) 30 to 60 minutes. Unmold and garnish with salad greens.

Mock Angelfood Cake

You can make "mock angelfood cake" by dipping thick fingers of bread in condensed milk and rolling in coconut; toast under the broiler until cookie sheet and toast in a very hot oven about seven minutes.

Corn Flake Coating

Finely crushed corn flakes makes a different and delicious coating for oven-fried chicken.
